Space Exploration Technologies Corp., doing business as SpaceX, is a private American aerospace manufacturer and space transport services company headquartered in Hawthorne, California. It was founded in 2002 by entrepreneur Elon Musk with the goal of reducing space transportation costs and enabling the colonization of Mars.[3] SpaceX has since developed the Falcon launch vehicle family and the Dragon spacecraft family, which both currently deliver payloads to Earth orbit.

SpaceX's achievements include the first privately funded liquid-propellant rocket to reach orbit (Falcon 1 in 2008);[4] the first privately funded company to successfully launch, orbit, and recover a spacecraft (Dragon in 2010); the first private company to send a spacecraft to the International Space Station (ISS) (Dragon in 2012);[5][6] the first propulsive landing for an orbital rocket (Falcon 9 in 2015); and the first reuse of an orbital rocket (Falcon 9 in 2017). As of March 2017, SpaceX has been contracted to fly a total of 18 of the 20 missions of Space Station (ISS) and/or a cargo resupply contract.[7] NASA also awarded SpaceX a further development contract in 2011 to develop and

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on Line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and

See the instructions on page 4.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

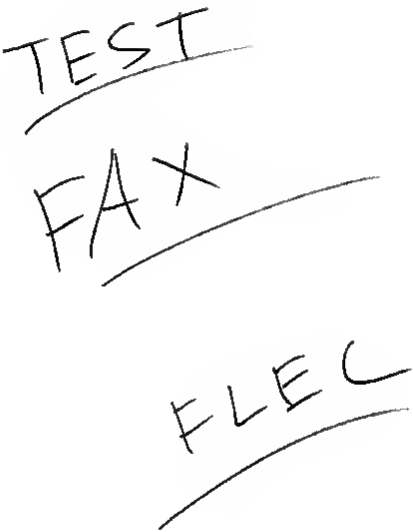

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of net income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States is in the following cases:

- The U.S. owner of a disregarded entity and not the entity

Just call me and I will try to explain better. & if you need this info below in a printable document, I can do that.

Hair Ribbons 5/8" rolls 25 cards

Combs 30 cards

Barrettes 30 cards

Ponytail Holders 30 cards

Q tips 10 cards w/2 on each card (so when they pulled a Qtip card they would see they needed to purchase 2 boxes)

RTP: A Transport Protocol for Real-Time Applications

Status of this Memo

This document specifies an Internet standards track protocol for the Internet community, and requests discussion and suggestions for improvements. Please refer to the current edition of the "Internet Official Protocol Standards" (STD 1) for the standardization state and status of this protocol. Distribution of this memo is unlimited.

Abstract

This memorandum describes RTP, the real-time transport protocol. RTP version 2 is deficient through the design of version 1 in that it provides no mechanism to ensure timely delivery or provide other quality-of-service guarantees, but relies on lower-layer services to do so. It does not guarantee delivery or prevent out-of-order delivery, nor does it assume that the underlying network is reliable and delivers packets in sequence. The Sequence Number included in RTP allows the receiver to reconstruct the sender's packet sequence, but sequence numbers might also be used to determine the proper location of a packet, for example in video decoding, without necessarily decoding packets in sequence.

While RTP is primarily designed to satisfy the needs of multi-participant multimedia conferences, it is not limited to that particular application. Storage of continuous data, interactive distributed simulation, active badge, and control and measurement applications may also find RTP applicable.

This memorandum defines RTP, consisting of the data and control parts of a layered protocol. It specifies the format of packets used to carry data and the procedures used to distribute them, and the control protocol used to manage the session. It is assumed that RTP will be carried in the payload of a lower-layer protocol such as UDP. The document also specifies a profile for voice and video applications which provides some additional functionality specific to those types of applications. Other profiles will be defined in separate documents, and may redefine some or all of the optional header fields as well as specify additional message formats.

1. Introduction

Real-time conferencing of groups of any size within the Internet has been hampered by the lack of service models in the traditional architecture that can support the resource requirements of real-time media such as digital audio and video. Such services are the subject of ongoing research and experimentation, but are not widely deployed yet. In the absence of network support, real-time conferences have relied entirely on "best-effort" datagram services such as the Internet's User Datagram Protocol (UDP) and similar services layered directly on network-level protocols. Best-effort services deliver packets with variations in throughput and latency, packet reordering, and occasional outright packet loss due to congestion. Fortunately, most digital audio and video applications are naturally resilient to these problems, or can be made resilient with limited effort.

The Real-time Transport Protocol (RTP) provides end-to-end network transport functions suitable for applications transmitting real-time data, such as audio, video or simulation data, over multicast or unicast network services. RTP does not address resource reservation and does not guarantee quality-of-service for real-time services. The data transport is augmented by a control protocol (RTCP) to allow monitoring of the data delivery in a manner scalable to large multicast networks, and to provide minimal control and identification functionality. RTP and RTCP are designed to be independent of the underlying transport and network layers. The protocol supports the use of RTP-level translators and mixers.

Thank you for choosing Insight as your booking

Over to the right on the Commits history page you will see that each commit has its own ID number below it, the "Browse code" link allows you to step back in time to see what the entire repository looked like after that commit happens. If on the other hand you click on the Commit ID itself you will be presented with a "diff" of every file that was changed – a representation of all changes between the commit and its parent – that is, a comparison with the version of the repository that came before it. Contributors to wikipedia will recognize this though in some ways wikipedia offers a better interface. A diff will indicate in green all lines that have been added and red all lines that have been deleted. It will also show you a total number of changes at the top that gives you an immediate indication of how much was changed. Often you will see two seemingly identical lines in both colors which happens when only part of a line has been changed or moved slightly. Sometimes, a dark green color will indicate individual words that were changed but this reveals one of the weaknesses of GitHub as a resource for writers, the web interface for GitHub does not condense close to – say Microsoft Word track changes, in clearly revealing small edits to text (If you use git on the command line you can use something called "wdiff" or an option called "--color words")

Instead of looking at the history of all Commits for a repository you can also go to any individual file in the repository – say the English text of the Lord of the Flies article – and click the "History" button. This will show only the list of commits which modified that particular file.

The Commits for a repository or a file gives you the deep history, but is less useful when you just want to know who is responsible for a part of a given text as it currently stands in the version of the repository you are looking at. For this go to any file and click on "blame" instead of "history." If we open "blame" for the Japanese translation of the article for example you can see that the original translation was submitted by the user omo with oshow mumurik, hisashim syoichi, and kuonishi correcting typos. Clicking on any of the commit ideas next to the text attributed to them will show a diff that allows you to tell whether they were making small changes or adding significant amounts of new content.

Network and Graphs

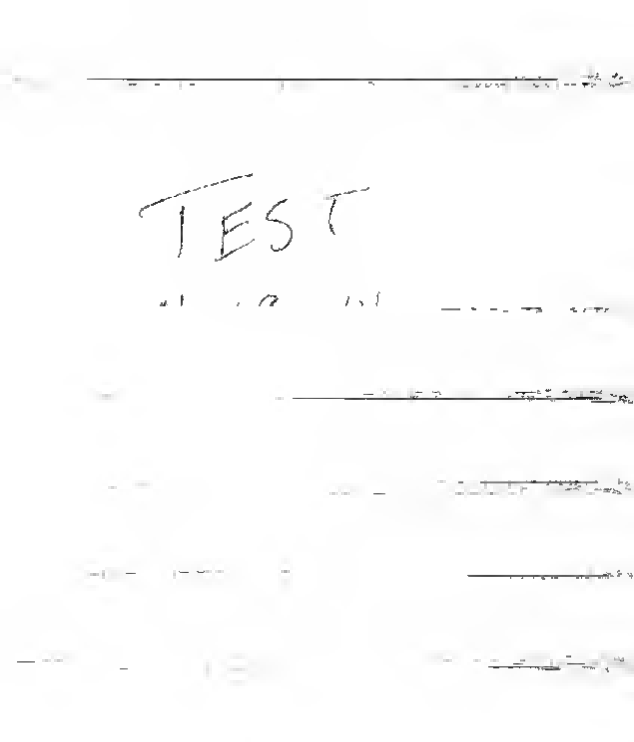

The "Commits" for the entire repository, the "history" of an individual file, and the "blame" feature are the heart of a repository archive of all its past changes. GitHub also offers some really wonderful "big picture" looks at the repository. The "Network" option, for example, gives you a beautiful visual representation of the git "tree" of the project. Each branch and fork of the code is depicted, with each commit indicated by a small dot and moments where branches "merge" with arrows. Read this blog post for more on how it works.

The graphs feature is also interesting, though some might be uncomfortable with the degree of transparency it offers. The contributors graph shows you the number of commits by each project contributor over time, the code frequency gives you a cleaner overview of how many lines are being added as opposed to deleted over time, and the punch card gives you a sense of the "working schedule" of the project in terms of what days and times of day commits tend to be made.

With the complete access to the history of every document in the form of the Commits overview, the blame feature, and the network and graphs, GitHub exposes an unprecedented amount of information about the creative process to the world. Not only is code made available to the world for download, use, and modification, but the contributions of every coder can be traced through the git repository.

My emphasis so far has been on the collaborative potentials of a platform like GitHub but this post should have made clear how much is revealed when we work completely in public through git. A culture of almost extreme transparency has rapidly become mainstream in the world of open source programming, as evidenced by the extremely rapid rise of GitHub.

If we set aside the technical obstacles to a GitHub like system for scholarly authorship as well as the solitary ways that some of our fields are known for, could this level of transparency ever take hold in our own academic work? What do you think? Can scholars overcome the "do not cite or circulate" secrecy that we often protect our drafts with and be convinced to expose the evolving ideas and prose in line with the "release early and release often" philosophy of the software world?

Food and Fitness for a Healthy Child

September 2010

Wood County Schools

Set healthy goals

How can you motivate your child to eat well and be active? Together, set goals that will keep him on track and make him feel good when he succeeds. With these ideas, you can encourage him to aim high—and stay healthy.

Make a plan

Talk about ways your youngster can be healthy and grow strong. Examples: eating fruits and vegetables, drinking water instead of soda, playing outside every day. List all the ideas, and let your child pick a manageable goal and an activity goal for each month. Try to make the goals as specific as possible ("eat one fruit and one vegetable at each meal" or "ride my bike 30 minutes a day")

Stay motivated

Seeing his goals and his progress will inspire your youngster to stay committed. Have him write the goals on a poster board, decorate it, and hang it up. Then post a calendar where he can keep a record. He could make a tally mark for each fruit and vegetable he eats and add a sticker a day he meets his goal. Keep him pumped up by commenting his goal each morning. ("Let's ride bikes after school. Where should we go?")

Celebrate success

Be excited by your youngster's progress—praise from you will go a long way. Let him know that you notice his efforts. ("Great idea to put a tomato slice on your bagel!") When he meets his goal every day for a week, have a celebration. You might go bowling, play miniature golf, or attend a sporting event. Then, encourage him to start on his next goal.

"Anytime" or "sometimes" foods

Some foods are so healthy that your youngster can eat them anytime. Others might taste good but should only be eaten sometimes because they have more sugar or fat. Help your child understand the difference.

- Explain that foods like fruits, vegetables, low-fat or fat-free yogurt and milk, whole grains, and lean meats are nutritious and can be eaten every day. Foods like cookies and chips are high in sugar, fat, or salt, so your youngster should have those just once in a while.
- Have your child help you put away groceries. As she places each item in the pantry or refrigerator, she can say whether it's an "anytime" food or a "sometimes" food. Also: Let her mark small blank stickers with "A" for "anytime" or "S" for "sometimes." She can label the foods for an easy reminder.

BEST BITES

Volunteer in PE

In PE class, your youngster will get exercise and learn skills to help her enjoy physical activity. Consider supporting the school's efforts—and your child's enjoyment—by asking the PE teacher how you can volunteer. She might need a parent to time races, set up obstacle courses, or assist at Field Day.

Bag your own lettuce

Bagged lettuce is convenient, but it can be expensive. Try this instead: Tear the leaves off a head of lettuce. Rinse, dry, and put into a large zipper bag (add a paper towel to remove extra moisture). Press the air out, and seal. Refrigerate for up to a week.

WHAT'S THE BIG IDEA?

About 7 in 10 children do not get enough vitamin D. The best source is the sun, and just 10–15 minutes a day out side is enough. Also: your youngster can drink milk or eat cereal that's fortified with vitamin D. This vitamin is important for bone and joint health because it helps the body absorb calcium.

Just for fun

Q: How do you know if a clock is hungry?

A: It goes back for seconds!

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Quality Concrete and Cement Products

YOU can do it with QUIKRETE

The request for him to take a leave and Ford's admission that he had purchased drugs while serving as mayor were just two key moments in a council meeting that also saw a separate petition presented that said the mayor should take a break from his job.

Ford took questions from councillors, including some pointed ones from Minnan-Wong, about the mayor's views on drugs and crime.

"Do you have zero tolerance of guns, drugs and gangs?" Minnan-Wong asked Ford on Wednesday morning.

The mayor said he does. Minnan-Wong then asked: "Have you purchased illegal drugs in the past two years?"

After a long pause, Ford replied, "Yes I have."

"I'm humiliated by it, but I can't change the past," said Ford. "All I can do is move on and that's what I'm doing."

At one point during Wednesday's council meeting, Coun. Giorgio Mammoliti floated the idea of having drug testing for all members of council.

The mayor later unsuccessfully attempted to move a motion demanding that his colleagues be tested.

Mayor accused of moving in 'threatening way'

It was just one of many dramatic moments during the morning session. Things had become heated earlier when Minnan-Wong alleged Ford stood in front of him in "a threatening way" as debate on the motion got underway.

The councillor asked for an apology. Heckling and shouting ensued, prompting the chair to call a five-minute recess.

After the recess, Speaker Frances Nunziata asked Ford to apologize. Ford refused, insisting he had merely asked the councillor to take his seat.

"I did not threaten him in any shape or form," said Ford. "He knows that. I asked him to take his seat. I have nothing to apologize for."

After that exchange, councillors used the debate to ask Ford about his behaviour, hammering him with questions about his admitted use of crack cocaine and his drinking. Ford continued to deny he is an addict and side-stepped questions about whether he will seek professional help.

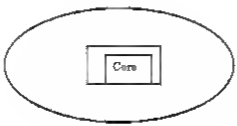

Ford indicated he would take, at most, a few days off during the holiday season. Ford has defied all calls to take a break from his job, despite his crack use and other high profile "mistakes," some of them alcohol-related.

pleasure is to be welcomed and every pain avoided. But in certain circumstances and owing to the claims of duty or the obligations of business it will frequently occur that pleasures have to be repudiated and annoyances accepted. The wise man therefore always holds in these matters to this principle of selection: he rejects pleasures to secure other greater pleasures, or else he endures pains to avoid worse pains."

A Short Story For Engineers

A toothpaste factory had a problem: they sometimes shipped empty boxes, without the tube inside. This was due to the way the production line was set up, and people with experience in designing production lines will tell you how difficult it is to have everything happen with timings so precise that every single unit coming out of it is perfect 100% of the time. Small variations in the environment (which can't be controlled in a cost-effective fashion) mean you must have quality assurance checks smartly distributed across the line so that customers all the way down to the supermarket don't get pissed off and buy another product instead.

Understanding how important that was, the CEO of the toothpaste factory got the top people in the company together and they decided to start a new project, in which they would hire an external engineering company to solve their empty boxes problem, as their engineering department was already too stretched to take on any extra effort.

UP EXPRESS:

NEW FARE STRUCTURE TAKES EFFECT MARCH 9 2016

UP Union Pearson Express

OVERVIEW

UP Express is introducing a new fare structure that makes travel to and from the airport, or even within the city even better for travellers.

Starting Monday March 9, 2015 the new one-way fare from downtown Toronto to Pearson Airport will be $9 with a PRESTO card – that's a $10 savings one way. That's not all. For those people looking for a faster, more frequent way to get downtown from the Bloor and Weston communities the savings are even greater with prices that match GO fares.

Fares for airport employees have also been reduced and are $3.50 one way and $140 for a monthly pass.

SPECIAL DISCOUNTS

We are continuing to offer special discounts for families children, students, seniors and qualified airport employees. This includes one of our newest discounts where children 12 and under ride for FREE. Additional discounts are also available for travellers who have a long layover at Toronto Pearson as well as friends and family who wish to "meet & greet" their loved ones at the airport.

This full fare structure goes into effect March 9, 2015. The fare table below shows the pricing with and without PRESTO by distance and the range of special discounts available.

29.4.1 FORCE_ALERT Message (Function Code 0x0409)

Command Class 0x08	Command Type 0x02	Function Code 0x0409
Configuration Parameters	Configuration Change	FORCE_ALERT

The FORCE_ALERT command generates an alert and a corefile on the device. This can be useful for testing Host error condition handling, and also in preparation for a Coredump when the device did not issue a fatal alert message.

The FORCE_ALERT command can be used to generate a "fatal alert" that will flush the ARM caches and also save important working data that would otherwise be lost during the Coredump process (that is, device RESET) when using CSM_ENCAPS control.

The command takes a single 16 bit parameter, which specifies the Alert Type generated by the device. When preparing for a Coredump it is recommended to use Alert Type 0x0024, which generates a data abort. (Alert Types are described in the Section 29.4 "Alert Diagnostic Indication Format" on page 528.)

Parameter 1 (FIFO Word 4) Alert Type to be generated

FIFO Word	Description
4	Bits [15:0] Alert Type to be Generated Alert Type (0x0024 - Data Abort) - recommended for Coredump

29.5 Diagnostic Output Paths

Diagnostic messages and responses can be transferred between the MSP Device and the Host using the PCIe/IP interface or the HMII Ethernet interface (using Open Diagnostics and CSM_ENCAPS).

Open diagnostics have the ability to be redirected to a different output. Redirection can reduce the load for a Host to recognize, store and capture rich diagnostic information when needed. With redirection, the diagnostics can be redirected to Ethernet (for instance) where the debug information will be automatically written to a designated sniffer.

- Path 1: REDIRECT OVER CSM_ENCAPS or REDIRECT OVER IP/UDP
- Path 2: PCIe/IP

29.5.1 Sequence for Configuring Unified Diagnostic Commands Example

- SET_TDM_PARAMS – Device Level Configurations first
- SET_ETH_HDR_DEVICE – MSP Device Source MAC Address.
- IP_SUBNET_CFG – required before SET_IP_HDR command
- IP_ADDRESS – MSP Device Source IP Address.
- ARP_SERVICE_CONFIG – option for Host.
- NIF_SELECT – NIF of Ethernet interface to which Open Diags will be redirected.
- REDIRECT OVER CSM_ENCAPS or REDIRECT OVER IP/UDP
- SUPVSR_CREATE_CHANNEL

After the SUPVSR_CREATE_CHANNEL command, the "Enable diag" commands can be issued before or after enabling Voice (VOHUNA) on a specific channel. If traces are required from the beginning of a voice call, the "Enable diag" command must be sent before enabling voice on a specific channel.

Read, understand and follow all safety rules and operating instructions in this manual before using this product. Failure to follow all instructions listed below may result in electric shock, fire and/or serious personal injury.

SAVE THESE INSTRUCTIONS

WORK AREA

- Always keep your work area clean and well lit. Cluttered benches and dark areas invite accidents.
- Do not operate power tools in explosive atmospheres, such as in the presence of flammable liquids, gases, or dust. Power tools create sparks, which may ignite the dust or fumes.

What are sharps?

"Sharps" is a general term used for any medical item that is sharp and can puncture skin, such as:

- Hypodermic needles
- EpiPens®
- Lancets and other items used for home glucose monitoring

Anyone who treats or monitors conditions such as diabetes, arthritis, or cancer at home may use sharps to do so.

Why it is important to dispose of sharps properly:

Exposed sharps in the trash can pose a great health risk to anyone who may come in contact with them, such as sanitation workers, trash haulers, housekeepers and your family members or pets. It is important to dispose of your used sharps properly. Please be aware that the guidance in this document applies only to sharps generated in a household.

There are two ways to dispose of household sharps:

Regular trash and Mailback disposal options

Regular Trash:

You can choose to dispose of your used sharps in your regular trash (not recycling bin), but you need to follow these guidelines to help protect people who may come in contact with the waste, such as family members, trash haulers, and landfill workers.

1. Sharps medical waste should be placed in a sturdy puncture-proof, hard plastic container with a tight-fitting lid, such as a red sharps container or a laundry detergent bottle.
2. When the container is full, the lid should be placed back on the container.
3. Tape the lid securely in place.
4. Mark this container as SHARPS DO NOT RECYCLE and then place the container in your household trash.

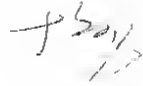

Since many municipalities manage contracts for household trash pickup services, be sure to check with your municipality or local trash hauler for any other guidance about disposal of sharps in your community.

RxBOX is for household medications only. Household sharps should not be put into RxBOX containers. Please dispose of them in your household trash using these easy-to-follow instructions.

For more information on proper disposal, visit our website at www.dupagehealth.org/rxbox or call the DuPage County Health Department at 630-221-7043.

Adobe Acrobat PDF Files

Adobe® Portable Document Format (PDF) is a universal file format that preserves all of the fonts, formatting, colours and graphics of any source document, regardless of the application and platform used to create it.

Adobe PDF is an ideal format for electronic document distribution as it overcomes the problems commonly encountered with electronic file sharing.

- Anyone anywhere can open a PDF file. All you need is the free Adobe Acrobat Reader. Recipients of other file formats sometimes can't open files because they don't have the applications used to create the documents.
- PDF files always print correctly on any printing device.
- PDF files always display exactly as created regardless of fonts, software, and operating systems. Fonts and graphics are not lost due to platform, software, and version incompatibilities.
- The free Acrobat Reader is easy to download and can be freely distributed by anyone.
- Compact PDF files are smaller than their source files and download a page at a time for fast display on the Web.

Allergy Shots: Tips to Remember

If you have allergies, you may be wondering if allergy shots are the best treatment for you. After all, getting regular shots isn't anyone's idea of fun, but the possibility of being free from your allergy symptoms may be worth it.

Allergies are the result of a chain reaction that starts in the immune system. Your immune system controls how your body defends itself. For instance, if you have an allergy to pollen, your immune system identifies pollen as an invader or allergen. Your immune system overreacts by producing antibodies called Immunoglobulin E (IgE). These antibodies travel to cells that release chemicals causing an allergic reaction.

Immunotherapy (allergy shots) is aimed at increasing your tolerance to allergens that trigger your symptoms every time you are exposed to them. An allergist / immunologist, often referred to as an allergist, is the most qualified physician to test which allergy you have and tell you if allergy shots are right for you.

Who Can Be Treated with Shots?

Allergy shots are recommended for patients with allergic asthma, allergic rhinitis/conjunctivitis and stinging insect allergy. They are not recommended for food allergies. Before a decision is made to begin allergy shots, the following issues must be considered:

- Length of allergy season and the severity of your symptoms
- Whether medications and/or changes to your environment can control your allergy symptoms
- Your desire to avoid long-term medication use
- Time: Immunotherapy requires a major time commitment
- Cost: may vary depending on your region and insurance coverage

Immunotherapy for children is effective and often well tolerated. It might prevent the onset of new allergen sensitivities or the progression to asthma.

In some patients suffering from other medical conditions or who take certain common medications, allergy shots may be more risky. It is important to mention other medications you take to your allergist.

KRAS Mutation Analysis by PCR

Intended Use: The KRAS Mutation Analysis PCR Assay is a qualitative test for 11 KRAS mutations. KRAS is a proto-oncogene that encodes a member of the RAS/MAPK signaling pathway. KRAS mutations are found in approximately 40% of colorectal cancers (CRC) and 20% of non-small cell lung cancers (NSCLC). KRAS mutations have been identified as a predictive biomarker for anti-EGFR monoclonal antibody therapy in patients with metastatic CRC. Approximately 30% of KRAS mutations have been identified in codon 12 and 13 of exon 2 and are associated with resistance to anti-EGFR monoclonal antibody therapy. The presence of these mutations is typically associated with poor clinical outcome and refractory disease. The remaining KRAS mutations are found in codons 61 and 146 of exon 3 and 4. The clinical significance of these mutations is not well established.

Limitations: Detection of mutations may be affected by sample handling and technical errors. A false negative result may occur if the DNA template is present in insufficient quantity or quality. A false positive result may occur if the mutation is present as a polymorphism. In BRAF-mutation positive patients, the clinical significance of the positive result is unknown.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

Form 5304-SIMPLE is a model Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees of Small Employers (SIMPLE) plan document that an employer may use to establish a SIMPLE IRA plan described in section 408(p), under which each eligible employee is permitted to select the financial institution for his or her SIMPLE IRA.

These instructions are designed to assist in the establishment and administration of the SIMPLE IRA plan. They are not intended to supersede any provision in the SIMPLE IRA plan.

Do not file Form 5304-SIMPLE with the IRS. Instead, keep it with your records.

For more information, see Pub. 560, Retirement Plans for Small Business (SEP, SIMPLE, and Qualified Plans) and Pub. 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Note. If you used the March 2002 or August 2000 version of Form 5304-SIMPLE to establish a model Savings Incentive Match Plan, you are not required to use this version of the form.

Which Employers May Establish and Maintain a SIMPLE IRA Plan?

To establish and maintain a SIMPLE IRA plan you must meet both of the following requirements.

1. Last calendar year, you had no more than 100 employees (including self-employed individuals) who earned $5,000 or more in compensation from you during the year. If you have a SIMPLE IRA plan but later exceed this 100-employee limit, you will be treated as meeting the limit for the 2 years following the calendar year in which you last satisfied the limit.

2. You do not maintain during any part of the calendar year another qualified plan with respect to which contributions are made or benefits are accrued for service in the calendar year. For this purpose, a qualified plan (defined in section 219(g)(5)) includes a qualified pension plan, a profit-sharing plan, a stock bonus plan, a qualified annuity plan, a tax sheltered annuity plan and a simplified employee pension (SEP) plan. A qualified plan that only covers employees covered under a collective bargaining agreement for which retirement benefits were the subject of good faith bargaining is disregarded if these employees are excluded from participating in the SIMPLE IRA plan. If the failure to continue to satisfy the 100-employee limit or the one-plan rule described in 1 and 2 above is due to an acquisition or similar transaction involving your business, special rules apply. Consult your tax advisor to find out if you can still maintain the plan after the transaction.

Certain related employers (trades or businesses under common control) must be treated as a single employer for purposes of the SIMPLE IRA requirements. There are (1) a controlled group of corporations under section 414(b), (2) a partnership or sole proprietorship under common control under section 414(c), or (3) an affiliated service group under section 414(m). In addition, if you have leased employees required to be treated as your own employees under the rules of section 414(n), then you must count all such leased employees for the requirements listed above.

What Is a SIMPLE IRA Plan?

A SIMPLE IRA plan is a written arrangement that provides you and your employees with an easy way to make contributions to provide retirement income for your employees. Under a SIMPLE IRA plan, employees may choose whether to make salary reduction contributions to the SIMPLE IRA plan rather than receiving these amounts as part of their regular compensation. In addition to any will contribute matching, or nonelective contributions you make on behalf of eligible employees (see Employer Eligibility Requirements below and Contributions on page 5). All contributions under this plan will be deposited into a SIMPLE individual retirement account or annuity (retail plan) for each eligible employee with the financial institution selected by him or her.

When To Use Form 5304-SIMPLE

A SIMPLE IRA plan may be established by using this Model Form or any other document that satisfies the statutory requirements.

Do not use Form 5304-SIMPLE if:

1. You want to require that all 5 SIMPLE IRA plan contributions initially go to a financial institution designated by you. That is, you do not want to permit each of your eligible employees to choose a financial institution that will initially receive contributions. Instead, use Form 5305-SIMPLE, Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees of Small Employers (SIMPLE)—for Use With a Designated Financial Institution;

2. You want employees who are nonresident aliens receiving no earned income from you that constitutes income from sources within the United States to be eligible under the plan, or

3. You want to establish a SIMPLE 401(k) plan.

Completing Form 5304-SIMPLE

Pages 1 and 2 of Form 5304-SIMPLE contain the operative provisions of your SIMPLE IRA plan. This SIMPLE IRA plan is considered adopted when you have completed all applicable boxes and blanks and it has been executed by you.

The SIMPLE IRA plan is a legal document with important tax consequences for you and your employees. You may want to consult with your attorney or tax advisor before adopting this plan.

Employee Eligibility Requirements (Article I)

Each year for which this SIMPLE IRA plan is effective, you must permit salary reduction contributions to be made by all of your employees who are reasonably expected to receive at least $5,000 in compensation from you during the year and who received at least $5,000 in compensation from you in any 2 preceding years. However, you can expand the group of employees who are eligible to participate in the SIMPLE IRA plan by completing the appropriate blanks in Article I, items 1a and 1b. To provide full eligibility check the box in Article I, item 1a. Alternatively to choose limited eligibility check the box in Article I, item 1b, and then insert "$5,000" or a lesser compensation amount (excluding zero) and "2" or a lower number of years of service in the blanks in (i) and (ii) of Article I, item 1b.

In addition, you can exclude from participation those employees covered under a collective bargaining agreement for which retirement benefits were the subject of good faith bargaining. You may do this by checking the box in Article I, item 2. Under certain circumstances, these employees must be excluded. See Which Employers May Establish and Maintain a SIMPLE IRA Plan? above.

Salary Reduction Agreements (Article II)

As indicated in Article II, item 1 a salary reduction agreement permits an eligible employee to make a salary reduction election to have his or her compensation for each pay period reduced by a percentage (expressed as a percentage or dollar amount). The total amount of

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS AND PROBLEM SOLVING

Using Catch-A-Call with Caller ID

Since Catch A-Call helps you receive call-waiting calls, your Caller ID service and display device must also work with call waiting. For best results, telephone components recommend connecting the caller ID device directly to the wall, since caller ID phones can have a hard time reading the data through switching devices, such as the Catch-A-Call.

When Catch-A-Call rings, my FAX machine, or Answering Machine does not answer

The Catch-A-Call rings when there is a call-waiting call. It helps you get calls while you are on-line. Telephones, Fax machines and answering machines are not made to ring in response to the phone company's call waiting beep. When Catch A-Call rings, answer the telephone or fax machine handset that is plugged directly into the Catch A-Call. It does not work call waiting and get the new call. If the call is a fax, place the FAX machine into "Manual Receive Mode" then hang up the handset. On many fax machines, you will also have to press the START button to begin reception.

When I take a call-waiting call, I lose my Internet connection

The Catch A-Call function is made to keep your line free so you can take important calls. Your computer and Internet Provider will only allow you to place them on hold for a short time, before they disconnect your connection on their own. The exact hold time depends on the ISP, the equipment and programs you are using.

When I'm on-line, callers get a busy signal, or Voice Mail answers every call

*A busy signal or going right into voicemail is an related to Catch A Call. This is a signal from your Phone Company to show that they can't complete the connection because your line is busy. The problem is when your computer calls your Internet Provider. It is dialing *70 as part of the phone number. See on the previous page "To Enable Call Waiting"

When I'm on-line, callers hear the line ring but there is no alert from my Catch-A-Call

This is a symptom of having a little lower than average line voltage on your phone line. Catch A Call has an adjustable sensitivity feature to correct this. Pick up the phone handset and dial ### 1 which will make it more sensitive to the call waiting beep. Your Catch A-Call will ring in response to the change. This is applicable to model 68701-6 and higher.

When I'm on-line, the Catch-A-Call rings in error when nobody is calling

This is a symptom of having slightly higher than average line voltage. This causes your Catch A Call to ring in response to computer noises that it wouldn't normally detect. You can make your Catch A Call less sensitive to line signals by adjusting its sensitivity. Pick up the phone handset and dial ### 3 to make your Catch A Call less sensitive to the phone company's call waiting beep and other line noises. Your Catch-A Call will ring in response to the change. The standard sensitivity setting is ### 2. This is applicable to model 68701-6 and higher.

I cannot hear my Catch-A-Call ring, but the call light flashes when there is a call.

Since people's range of hearing may differ, Catch A-Call features adjustable ring tones. Please see previous page for assistance on how to adjust the ringing tones so they are more audible to you.

How does Catch-A-Call work with distinctive ring?

The Catch-A-Call is made to reproduce distinctive call waiting signals. If you subscribe to Distinctive Ring service from your phone company, it will alert you to people dialing your alternate phone numbers. NOTE FAX machines will not detect the Catch A-Call's ring.

For installation or operation help, please check out the expanded FAQ at the Catch A-Call web page at www.catchacall.com. Just click on the product you need assistance with.

Preface

This book mainly targets those with some familiarity with Linux with no fear of the command line. A spirit of tinkering is advised, but not necessary.

Reading the chapters in order is not necessary; so feel free to jump in/out and read parts directly.

The book is current for the latest stable Ubuntu for the x86 architecture, 4.2.2 at the time of writing, though many of the principles apply to other versions and architectures.

COBOL!?!?! AHHHHH! YES!

September 20, 2008

ADVICE: Don't count COBOL out. Ugh. I used to program in COBOL, and I agree with this statement: "The use of Cobol cripples the mind; its teaching should, therefore, be regarded as a criminal offense." Fortran was better, and I'm sure that newer languages are better still. Anything would be! And yet, we're told: "Cobol is the most widely used language in the 21st century, critical to some of the hottest areas of software development today, and may be the next language you'll be learning." Not me. I've learned it and forgotten it, and the latter process was far more pleasant than the former.

UPDATE: Cobol is worsening California's budget crisis.

If Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger wants to issue minimum-wage checks to 200,000 state workers in less than a month, he may want to rehire any semi-retired computer programmers he terminated last week.

The massive pay cut would exhaust the state's antiquated payroll system, which is built on a Vietnam-era computer language so outdated that many college students don't even bother to learn it anymore.

Democratic state Controller John Chiang said Monday it would take at least six months to reconfigure the state's payroll system to issue blanket checks at the federal minimum wage of $6.55 per hour, though Schwarzenegger insists such a change should occur this month. The state payroll system is based on the COBOL, or Common Business Oriented Language, programming language – a code first introduced in 1959 and popularized in the 1960s and 1970s.

"COBOL programmers are hard to come by these days," said Fred Ferner, the Sacramento-based CEO of MGT of America, a public-sector consulting firm. "It's certainly not a language that is taught oftentimes; you have to rely on retired annuitants to come back and help maintain the system until you're able to find a replacement."

I'll bet if he'd ordered a raise we wouldn't be hearing this excuse – but either way, it's more evidence that Cobol is a tool of the Devil! Thanks to reader Lou Minatti for the tip.

ANOTHER UPDATE: Reader Bill Richmond emails: "In my experience, people that criticize COBOL never actually made a living with it." Well, I certainly never did. Which is a good thing for... well everybody!

Product Description

George Harrison was always known as the 'quiet Beatle' As part of the biggest band in pop history, he took a back seat to Paul McCartney and John Lennon, but his talent shone through in the composition of classic songs such as 'Something' and 'Here Comes The Sun' In his solo career he occasionally threatened to eclipse both John and Paul on the world stage and he joined forces with Bob Dylan Tom Petty Roy Orbison and Jeff Lynne to create the massively successful supergroup the Traveling Wilburys However the success of his professional life was often met by turmoil in his private life and the loss of first wife Patti to best friend Eric Clapton, the traumatic attempt on his life by a knife wielding intruder and his final struggle against cancer meant that George Harrison's life was nothing if not dramatic Bestselling author Marc Shapiro has exclusively interviewed friends and former colleagues of the enigmatic guitar legend This revealing biography reaffirms Harrison's importance as an innovative and hugely talented musician and shows that, as a member of the most important band ever, as well as in his multi faceted career after the Beatles George Harrison was no ordinary man

Cook Time:	5 min

4-ounce can crushed pineapple

3-ounce package black cherry gelatin

6 ounces dried cranberries, finest

1 cup broken pecans

1/2 cup sugar

Parsley for garnish

Sour cream or whipped cream, for garnish

Drain pineapple and reserve juice. Add juice to 1/2 cup hot water and heat to boiling. Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water. Dissolve softened gelatin in hot water-juice mixture. Let cool until it starts to set; don't let the gelatin harden. Put cranberries through a grinder. Add ground berries, pineapple, nuts, and sugar to cooled gelatin mixture. Mix well. Pour into a bowl or mold. Refrigerate until completely set. Place mold in a warm water bath and run a knife around the edges to loosen. Invert onto a serving plate, garnish with parsley and a dollop of sour cream or whipped cream.

Pan Roasted Chanterelle-Gorgonzola Stuffed Chicken Breast

Recipe Courtesy of Kent & Kevin Rathbun

2 ounces bacon fat
1 tablespoons garlic, minced
1 tablespoons shallot, minced
2 ounces yellow onion, minced
4 ounces chanterelle mushrooms
1/2 cup white wine
4 ounces gorgonzola blue cheese
1 tablespoon basil, chopped
1/2 tablespoon oregano, chopped
Kosher salt, to taste
Cracked black pepper, to taste

For the pan roasted chicken breast
2 (12-ounce) Airline chicken breast, split into 4, skin on
1 teaspoon kosher salt
1 teaspoon cracked black pepper
6 ounces chanterelle mushroom-gorgonzola mix
2 ounces canola oil

For the chanterelle mushroom-gorgonzola stuffing:

In a medium hot sautepan add the bacon fat and saute garlic, shallot and onions until translucent.

Add chanterelle mushrooms and continue sauteing until tender. Deglaze with white wine.

Chill and set aside.

In a medium mixing bowl add cool chanterelle mushroom mix, gorgonzola, basil, oregano, salt and black pepper. Fold together until incorporated. Chill and set aside for later use.

For the pan roasted chicken breast:

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

With a boning knife, butterfly 4 chicken breasts. Stuff each breast with 2 ounces of chanterelle mushroom-gorgonzola mix then tie with butchers twine to ensure that it stays together.

Season each chicken breast with salt and cracked black pepper.

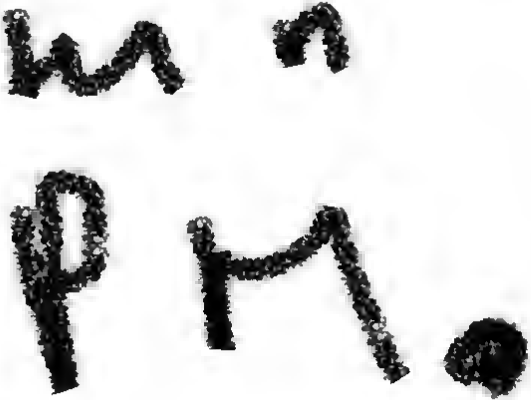

In a large hot saute pan add canola oil then lay the chicken in the pan skin side down. Sear for about one minute then turn over and continue cooking for 30 more seconds.

Place the entire pan in a 350 degree oven and roast until done. Serve with onion jus immediately.

Very often if he were stuck for leads in a case returning to the scene would spark something in him. But in this case he was simply plagued with a disturbing truth. "We're probably not going to learn anything new until it happens again," he said to his partner, who seemed even more distressed.

"And it will, won't it."

"Something this sick? Yes, it's definitely not over."

Jabberwocky
BY LEWIS CARROLL

'Twas brillig and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe
All mimsy were the borogoves,
And the mome raths outgrabe

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!
The jaws that bite the claws that catch!
Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun
The frumious Bandersnatch!"

He took his vorpal sword in hand,
Long time the manxome foe he sought—
So rested he by the Tumtum tree
And stood awhile in thought

And, as in uffish thought he stood
The Jabberwock with eyes of flame,
Came whiffling through the tulgey wood,
And burbled as it came!

One, two! One, two! And through and through
The vorpal blade went snicker-snack!
He left it dead, and with its head
He went galumphing back

"And hast thou slain the Jabberwock?
Come to my arms my beamish boy!
O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!"
He chortled in his joy

'Twas brillig and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe
All mimsy were the borogoves
And the mome raths outgrabe

I propose to change the system so that when density card output is requested, plotted densities are punched out. In the normal case there would simply be the average densities. If the test code calls for E.N.B. conversion, it would be the E.N.B. densities that are punched out. If the test breaks down, e.g. because of range check failure, we would get cards punched out for individual stripes, since individuals are plotted in that case.

Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV)

What is RSV?

A respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) is a common virus that causes infections of the lungs and breathing passages. Most people have had RSV infection by the time they are two years old. RSV infection usually causes mild, cold-like symptoms. But it can be more serious in babies born early (premature) or babies with heart or lung problems. RSV is the most common cause of bronchiolitis and pneumonia in children younger than one year old. This is also the most common cause of hospitalization in children younger than two years old. About 1 in 100 infants with RSV infection will need to be hospitalized.

Although children usually have mild RSV infection, they can still spread the virus to others. Adults usually have mild symptoms. The virus can live on hard surfaces like tables and countertops for several hours. It can live on soft surfaces like tissues and clothing for shorter periods of time. Infected people can spread the virus to others when they cough or sneeze. They can also spread the virus by touching other people or objects with the virus on them and then touching their own eyes, nose, or mouth before washing their hands.

How does RSV spread?

RSV can enter the body through the eyes, nose, or mouth. It can be spread person to person by droplets in the air when someone coughs or sneezes. It can also be spread by touching objects or surfaces with the virus on them and then touching the eyes, nose, or mouth before washing the hands.

What are the signs and symptoms of RSV?

- Runny nose
- Decreased appetite
- Cough
- Sneezing
- Fever
- Wheezing
- Noisy breathing

Symptoms usually appear four to six days after exposure to the virus. Most people with RSV infection will have mild symptoms that last one to two weeks. Infants and young children with RSV infection may have more severe symptoms. They may have trouble breathing and may need to be hospitalized. Infants born early (premature) and infants with heart or lung problems are also at higher risk for severe symptoms. Symptoms usually appear four to six days after exposure to the virus.

How is RSV treated?

Most people with mild RSV infection can be treated at home. Treatment usually includes plenty of rest and fluids. Over-the-counter medicines may help relieve fever and pain. Antibiotics do not work against viruses like RSV. Children who have trouble breathing may need to be hospitalized. They may receive oxygen therapy. Other treatments may be required if symptoms are severe. Children in the hospital may need to be isolated from others to prevent the spread of the virus.

Africa's Hemispheres

On a globe, Earth is divided into four hemispheres by a horizontal line called the equator and by vertical lines that run from the North Pole to the South Pole. The hemispheres are the Northern, Southern, Western, and Eastern. Africa is part of both the Northern and Southern hemispheres because the equator runs through the middle of the continent. Africa is mostly located in the Eastern Hemisphere, but part of the "bulge" of Africa is in the Western Hemisphere.

Northern and Southern Hemispheres

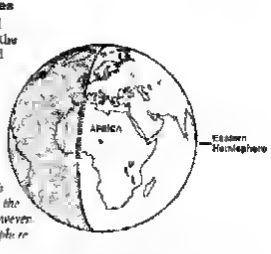

A globe shows an imaginary horizontal line that runs around the center of Earth. This line is called the equator. The equator divides Earth into the Northern and Southern hemispheres.

Since the equator runs through Africa, the continent is located in both the Northern and Southern hemispheres.

Western and Eastern Hemispheres

A globe also shows imaginary vertical lines that run from the North Pole to the South Pole. One of these lines is called the prime meridian. This line, along with its twin line on the opposite side of the globe, create the Western and Eastern hemispheres.

Since the prime meridian runs through Africa, the continent is located in both the Eastern and Western hemispheres. However, most of Africa is in the Eastern Hemisphere.

The redial memory can accept numbers up to 31 digits long. The number will remain in redial memory until you change it by dialing another telephone number.

To dial the same number again, lift the handset, and press REDIAL.

NOTE: If the number is more than 31 digits long it will be truncated and redial memory

Erasing redial

For privacy, you can erase the last memory. Lift the handset, then press REDIAL and hang up.

You can choose from three different ringer tones. The phone comes set to Tone 1.

1. Press RINGER
2. Press #
3. Press 1 for Tone 1

Temporary tone dialing is used only when you have rotary service. It allows you access to services that require tone signaling, including touch-tone activated computer systems (e.g. telephone banking).

To change from pulse (rotary) to tone dialing during a call:

1. Dial a telephone number with the mode switch set to DP (pulse).
2. Press TONE. All buttons pressed after this will send tone signals.
3. After you hang up, the phone automatically returns to rotary service.

investment to use the following day. Carefully inspect any product reduced in price to be sure it is a bargain. Make sure it will not spoil before you have a chance to use it.

"Avoid impulse buys. Unplanned purchases can wreck your budget. Don't be unduly influenced by big displays or fancy ads. These are designed to promote sales. Just because an item is sold in a large or in a promotional table does not guarantee it is reduced in price. Compare it with similar "regular priced" products to see if it is a bargain.

"Checking out... Watch to be sure breakable and scuffable items are correctly bagged. Also, food items that are easily bruised must be carefully packed. Bananas crushed by a can of beans aren't very appetizing.

"On the way home. It is important that foods be carried home from the grocery as quickly as possible. Special care should be given to make sure frozen foods do not thaw. Highly perishable foods such as meats and milk should be handled with care to ensure they stay cool. Fragile foods such as eggs and fresh produce should be placed so that they will not be bruised or crushed on the trip home. When you reach home, put foods away quickly. Frozen and refrigerated foods should be handled first.

THIS AND THAT

"Market research shows that shoppers do not stop and linger in the aisle until they are in the middle. They often turn around instead of going to the other end. This makes the end of the aisles less appealing for retailers and more appealing for bargain hunters.

Look for lower priced items on the bottom shelves. The most expensive items will be just below eye level.

"Bigger sizes can usually be found on the top shelf. These may cost less per unit but may be too large for your family.

"Two for the price of one doesn't always mean you have to buy two to get the same savings. Ask to see if you can buy at 50% off.

"Organize your shopping list according to the store layout. This will save you time and reduce the temptation to buy foods not on your list. This is also helpful in larger grocery stores or warehouse stores where backtracking is time consuming. The longer you are in a store, the greater the tendency to buy.

Notice of Health Insurance Premium Rebate

Re: Health Insurance Premium Rebate for Year 2012, Policy # XXXXXX373

Dear Richard W Knight

This letter is to inform you that Blue Cross of California will be rebating a portion of your health insurance premiums through your employer or group policy holder. This rebate is required by the Affordable Care Act – the health reform law.

The Affordable Care Act requires Blue Cross of California to rebate part of the premiums it received if it does not spend at least 80 percent of the premiums Blue Cross of California receives on health care services such as doctors and hospital bills, and activities to improve health care quality, such as efforts to improve patient safety. No more than 20 percent of premiums may be spent on administrative costs such as salaries, sales, and advertising. This is referred to as the "Medical Loss Ratio" standard or the 80/20 rule. The 80/20 rule in the Affordable Care Act is intended to ensure that consumers get value for their health care dollars. You can learn more about the 80/20 rule and other provisions of the health reform law at http://www.healthcare.gov/law/features/costs/value-for-premium/index.html.

What the Medical Loss Ratio Rule Means to You

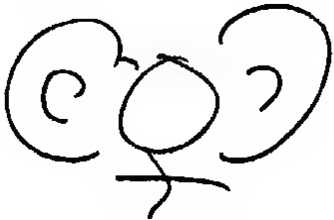

The Medical Loss Ratio rule is calculated on a State by State basis. In your State, Blue Cross of California did not meet the 80/20 standard. In 2012, Blue Cross of California spent only 79.30% of a total of $1,747,347,841.00 in premium dollars on health care and activities to improve health care quality. Since it missed the 80/20 percent target by 70% of premium it receives, Blue Cross of California must rebate 70% of the total health insurance premiums paid by the employer and employees in your group health plan. We are required to send this rebate to your employer or group policyholder by August 1, 2013, or apply this rebate to the health insurance premium that is due on or after August 1, 2013. Employers or group policyholders must follow certain rules for distributing the rebate to you.

PABCO® Roofing Products

PABCO® ASPHALT SHINGLES

Recommended Maintenance Practices

• Avoid other cleaning practices, as they may damage the shingles and void coverage under the terms of the PABCO® Limited Shingle Warranty. This includes, but is not limited to, the use of acids, detergent powders, solvents, and any other material that does not rinse cleanly off the roof. Do not clean roofs with a power washer or any other pressurized water device with or without chemicals, or use abrasive cleaning methods such as a brush or broom.

• The roof surface must be protected from over spray or staining from other trades' such as painting, stucco, or masonry, as there may be no way to remove these foreign materials without damaging the shingles.

• Do not apply paints or coatings to the shingles.

• Periodically inspect the roof for damage and debris, typically each spring or after extreme weather. Repair roof damage promptly to avoid further damage.

• Safety must be the first priority when working on a roof. Observe every necessary precaution, safety guideline, and safe work practice, or have a roofing professional do the work.

The PABCO® Limited Shingle Warranty

PABCO® warrants that our shingles are free from manufacturing defects that adversely affect their performance. PABCO® is not responsible for failures of any roof system that are not directly attributable to a PABCO® product. See the PABCO® Limited Shingle Warranty for details, limits, and conditions.

Living Dangerously

A couple was having dinner at home when the wife said, "You know, Fred, when we were first married, you used to take the smaller piece of steak and give me the larger. Now, you take the larger one and leave me the smaller.

"BEFORE" AND "AFTER" PHOTOS

The more you show, the more you'll know. Wear a swimsuit, underwear or something comparable so you can see where you need the work, and where you're making progress. Don't be afraid to show some skin. These photos are great motivators. Be sure to take your first series of photos prior to day 1, following these simple guidelines:

- Use a plain background if possible.
- Take a few front photos (hands on hips, "biceps flex" muscle pose), a few side shots (hands at sides), and a few back shots (hands on hips, "biceps flex" muscle pose).
- Don't look at the scale! It is not a true reflection of your body's appearance. This is not just a "before" photo. It is a goodbye photo. The #90X team is about to leave the station and that body is going to leave some baggage behind. "When Wheels!"
- Repeat the process after Phase 1, after Phase 2, and after Phase 3 to chart your visual progress.
- Visit Beachbody.com/P90X, or if you're a member of the Team Beachbody community go to TeamBeachbody.com, to create a profile page and post your photos online.

TAKE THE FIT TEST

Before starting an extreme fitness program like P90X, it is important to know where you stand and if your current fitness level is adequate. Provid es an honest assessment of your abilities and your mind-set will allow you to take advantage of your strengths and overcome your weaknesses.

We ask that you complete the equivalent of Power 90® or Slim in 6® before you begin. But if you're unfamiliar with these programs, we've set some guidelines for you to follow. If you can't do what is listed below you'll see better results by doing another extreme program before you take on P90X. So if you can't finish the Fit Test, do Power 90. You'll get great results, and then be able to come back and crush P90X.

Important note

Do this test a few days before you officially start day 1. The P90X Fit Test takes approximately 40 minutes to complete. Be sure to consecutively perform all the exercises in the order they appear. Keep up with the timing, and make a note if you do anything differently- you will repeat the Fit Test when you complete P90X, so it is vital that you are able to do it the same way, in the same order. That way you'll get a true indication of the improvements you've made. Pay attention, and be honest with yourself!

WHAT YOU WILL NEED TO TAKE THE FIT TEST

- Heart rate monitor
- Body fat tester or caliper
- Tape measure
- Scale (calibrate to 0.0 lbs.)
- Partner to help record data (optional)
- Chin-up bar (securely installed)
- Timer (stopwatch or watch with second hand)
- Towel
- Water
- Easy "Bring It" game face

Installing and Replacing Batteries

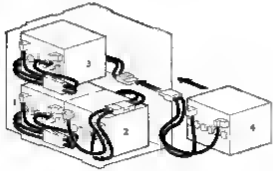

The XR Battery Pack features user-installable batteries. Please read the warnings in Section 9.1 of the User's Manual before performing the installation of the batteries. Failure to follow the proper installation can result in damage to the equipment.

Warning
Only personnel familiar with the dangers of batteries and the required precautions should perform or supervise battery installations. Keep unauthorized personnel away from batteries.

Installing batteries
The XR Battery Pack has been shipped with its batteries removed. To install the batteries, follow the procedure outlined below:

1. Grasp the lower edge of the plastic battery door fastener cover and pull the cover off with gentle, firm pressure.
2. Turn the battery door fasteners counterclockwise with your fingers to loosen them.
3. Tilt the battery door/front panel forward, then lift it away from the cabinet.

4. Position batteries on their side, terminals up and to the left of the cabinet. Note the yellow couplers (4) located inside the cabinet, one for each battery.
5. Begin with the lower pair by selecting a battery and, using firm pressure, sliding the battery all the way to the rear of the cabinet.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

SECTION 2

Amendment XIV

Passed by Congress June 13, 1866. Ratified July 9, 1868.

(Note: Article I, Section 2 of the Constitution was modified by Section 2 of the 14th Amendment.)

SECTION 1

All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. SECTION 2

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age,* and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SECTION 4

The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

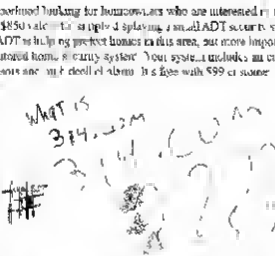

SECTION 5

The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Terrible Weather

It was a terrible night, blowing cold and rain in a most frightful manner. The streets were deserted and the local baker was just about to close up shop when a little man slipped through the door.

He carried an umbrella, blown inside out, and was bundled in two sweaters and a thick coat; but, even so, he still looked wet and bedraggled.

As he unwound his scarf he said to the baker, "May I have two bagels to go, please?"

The baker said in astonishment, "Two bagels? Nothing more?"

"That's right," answered the little man. "One for me and one for Bernice."

"Bernice is your wife?" asked the baker.

"What do you think," snapped the little man, "my mother would send me out on a night like this?"

Greetings Earth People,

I am an alien being from an intergalactic galaxy. I have transposed myself onto this sheet of paper. For years my people have been visiting your planet in hopes of finding a suitable living environment for our population. After careful consideration, the "LOG" (League of Galaxies) have determined that your planet is more screwed up than ours, so we decided to stay where we are.

Love,

E.T.

GUIDANCE EXAMPLES

Spiderman is too rough and loud for inside. When we go outside, we'll find a Spiderman place and make some Spiderman rules.

It's hard for Meredith to wait so long for a turn. Let her have the truck in three minutes. I'll time it on my watch.

Some children like to draw designs with lines and curves. Angelena. Other people like to draw people and houses. It's up to each person.

It bothers me when you call Kevin stupid. He is not stupid. He's playing in his own way and that's fine.

Yes, you can write your own name, Paula, but Claude does not have to if he'd rather not.

I know you want to be the father. We could have two fathers in this house. We need a grandfather, too -- and some uncles.

I know how you feel, Teresa. It's hard for you right now, but I think we can work it out.

I don't want you to call Josh a baby. He is three years old. It is hard for him to get used to not being with his mother.

Maria, your loud crying makes it hard for us to hear. (To the other children) Sometimes people need to cry. When Maria can tell me with words what's the matter, she will.

Jean Paul, the children worked hard making their block building; they get angry when you knock it down. Help build the tower back up. Then you can build something of your own.

People don't like it when you grab. Ask and then listen to the answer. Did she say no? OK. What else can you find to do?

I won't allow you to kick us and I won't kick you either. I want this to be a safe place for all of us.

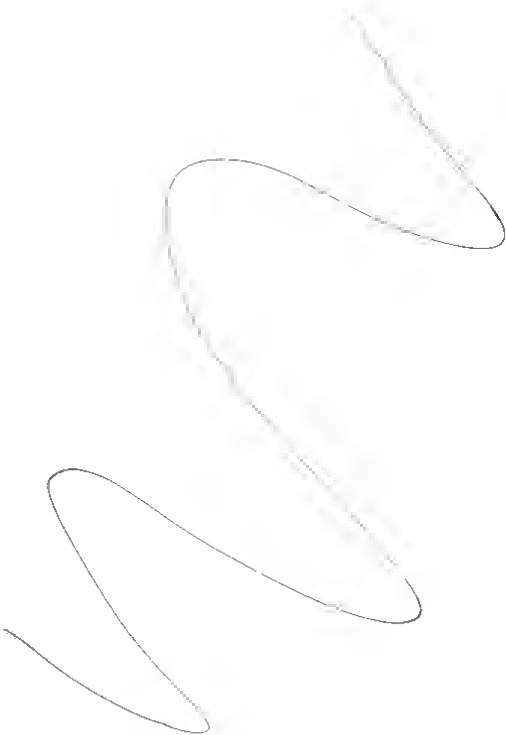

Sean, the children want to hear the story. You can tell us your story after we are done with this story.

Water on the floor is slippery and could make someone fall. Here's a mop for you to mop up over there. I'll sponge up here.

I know you're mad. I understand. But shouting that loudly won't help. Come here, let's talk about it.

Brian, please don't yell across the room. Walk over to your friends and speak right to them.

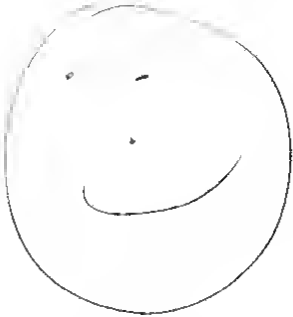

I am not going to chase you, Rosa. Walk back here to me. Take giant steps.

Test cricket is the longest form of the sport of cricket. Test matches are played between national representative teams with "Test status" as determined by the International Cricket Council (ICC). The two teams of 11 players play a four innings match, which often lasts up to five days. It is generally considered the most complete examination of teams' playing ability and endurance.[1][2][3] The origin of the name Test stems from the long, gruelling match being a "test" of the relative strength of the two sides.[4]

The first officially recognised Test match began on 15 March 1877, between England and Australia at the Melbourne Cricket Ground (MCG), where Australia won by 45 runs.[5] A Test match to celebrate 100 years of Test cricket was held in Melbourne from 12 to 17 March 1977, in which Australia beat England by 45 runs—the same margin as that first Test.[6]

In October 2012, the International Cricket Council recast the playing conditions for Test matches, permitting day/night Test matches.[7]

Test status[edit]

Test matches are included in first-class cricket. Matches are played between national representative teams with "Test status" as determined by the International Cricket Council. As of December 2014, ten national teams have Test status, the most recently promoted being Bangladesh in 2000. Zimbabwe's Test status was voluntarily suspended, because of poor performances between 2006 and 2011, it returned to competition in August 2011.[8]

In January 2014, during the historic ICC meeting in Dubai, the pathway for new potential test nations was laid out with the winners of the next round of the ICC Intercontinental Cup playing a 5-day match against the bottom rank test nation. If the Associate team defeats the test nation then they could be added as the new test country and be given full membership.

A list of matches, defined as "Tests", was first drawn up by Australian Clarence Moody in the mid-1890s. Representative matches played by simultaneous England touring sides of 1891–92 (in Australia and South Africa) and 1929–30 (in the West Indies and New Zealand) are deemed to have "Test status".

In 1970, a series of five "Test matches" was played in England between England and a Rest of the World XI. These matches, originally scheduled between England and South Africa, were amended after South Africa was suspended from international cricket because of their government's policy of apartheid. Although initially given Test status (and included as Test matches in some record books, including Wisden Cricketers' Almanack), this was later withdrawn and a principle was established that official Test matches can only be between nations. Despite this, in 2005, the ICC ruled that the six-day Super Series match that took place in October 2005, between Australia and a World XI, was an official Test match. Some cricket writers and statisticians, including Bill Frindall, ignored the ICC's ruling and excluded the 2005 match from their records. Biblical Steps to Salvation:

Faith to believe what God has said comes by hearing the Word of God (Rom 10:17) One must give heed to the Word of God

One must agree with God that one is a sinner (Rom 3:23; 5:12), and because of our sin we are separated from God And the wages or penalty for sin is death (Rom 6:23) We can only be saved through the atoning work of Christ (Rom. 5:8, Jn 3:16) We must come to God through Jesus Christ alone. The penalty for our sin was paid by Jesus Christ (Rom 5:8)

Notifications

Notifications are used to guide the SNMP Manager (Service Provider's back-office system) regarding the frequency and focus of the polling. This allows more controlled network management traffic and simplifies the agent. These notifications generally communicate an event along with some qualifying information provided by a list of variable bindings.

CSE MX uses the following four main categories of notifications:

- NE Enrol Notifications
- NE Deenrol Notifications
- NE OSI State Change Notifications
- Alarm Notifications

Acronym expansions for reference:
NE: Network Element
ME: Managed Element
MIB: Management Information Base

NE Enrol Notifications

Once the SNMP Fault Agent has been initialized in the Management Server, it will notify the SNMP Manager provisioned when a new Managed Element is added to its management domain. The following are variable bindings of the notification:

1. sysUpTime (1.3.6.1.2.1.1.3.0) – The sysUpTime of Management Server, count in hundredths of seconds. Syntax is of type "TimeTicks" [RFC 1902].
2. snmpTrapOID (1.3.6.1.6.3.1.1.4.1.0) – The syntax is of type Object Identifier. The value would be 1.3.6.1.4.1.562.29.1.9.0.11 as defined in the Nortel Reliable MIB.

No Seats - Starting

No starting method does not require the connection of the GREEN/ tach wire. No method will start this. In the reading the car's voltage before attempting to start and then looking at voltage increase when the ignition is on. This feature is only for vehicles that have a tachometer. Tachometer circuitry will not function since the vehicle won't run. The "No-Spark" during is preset at the factory and you can also stop. DA if you would like to use it. Note that if the vehicle is hard to start, set option #5 (page 23) for extended mode.

Tach-ometer sensing

If the vehicle is generally hard starting or requires a cranking time 15 more than 1 second, you will not be able to complete starting with the tach-ometer sensing starting method. This method starts the car by reading the engine speed (rpm) information from a wire under the hood. If you should tachometer sensing connect the GREEN / 2 orange wire to the car's tach wire under the hood (consult the instructions for the color of the tach wire of your vehicle). After you have connected the GREEN wire remember to tap to the Auto Command™ the car's tach wire color. Proceed to step 13A.

Note: You must have already installed the module from Step 12.

13A. Tach Key Learning

Note. Only use if the tachometer sensing method is chosen.

A. Connect the GREEN wire to the car's tach wire under the hood.

B. Turn the On/Off control switch in the "Off" position. Wait 5 seconds for the flashing of the red LED to stop.

C. Push the valet button once and you will see the red LED flash.

Now push the button on the transmitter two seconds until you see the red LED flash again. Release your finger from the button. The LED should flash — simply push the transmitter button again until you get only one flash.

D. Wait 5 seconds for the red LED to flash 3 times.

E. Turn the On/Off control switch back to the "On" position.

F. Start the car and let it get to it's normal idle. Do not press on the gas pedal.

G. Push the red Code button to the right of the valet button.

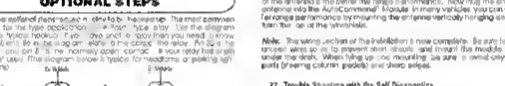

H. Watch the red LED. It will flash an initial number of 2 seconds indicating that the idle rate has been learned.

I. Turn the key to the "Lock/Off" position.

Note: Once this step is complete, the red LED should remain lit again when the engine is running (idle) to help the learning idle rate sequence. Transfer the LED light should not flash. CRITICAL: Confirm this by turning the engine off with the key in the ignition and pressing the gas pedal to raise the idle rate to twice the normal idle. The red LED should turn off. If it does not turn off repeat the idle rate learning procedure - back the GREEN wire connection and location.

OPTIONAL STEPS

Many of the additional items require a circuit to be opened up. The most common relay used for the following steps is the 87A relay. Take a look at the diagrams below for a typical hookup. Tape, crimp and/or solder then you need. Remember that all items in the diagram relate to the circuit to color. Pin 30 is the common you want to remove open contact. In your relay find pin #87A it may vary. Check the diagram below if unsure for neutrons or picking up applications.

14. Yellow Wire - Headlight - Control Harness

Connect the YELLOW wire which is optional. Yellow wire to activate the car horn headlights or parking lights. After the AutoCommand™ has started and the light will remain on until the system is not either 10 minutes or when the brake pedal is pressed or when manually inserting into the ignition and the car is put in park/ gear. This is a 12 VDC momentary ground output which MUST drive a relay and not directly connected to HEADLAMP wire as this will prevent the lights or the feature. If you are going to choose the Early one running light option (Less than 23 hours) this wire is the wire to the lights wire.

15. Blue - Horn / Siren - Control Harness

The wire which is optional signal the horn / honk wire each time the AutoCommand™ start the car. This is a 400 mA transistor ground output which MUST drive a relay that activates.

16. Brown Wire - Accessory Pulse - Control Harness

The BROWN wire which is optional is the Accessory Pulse output which gives out a transistor ground output to do the Accessory wire comes on. This if information unused - whether connect or disregard is for controlling GM/ RAP systems. Again, this is a 400 mA transistor ground output which MUST drive a relay not directly.

17. Brown/White - Alarm Disable - Control Harness

The BROWN/WHITE wire which is optional will not exit a quick negative pulse just before starting the vehicle. This wire can be used to turn off the factory alarm system in vehicles that have them.

Note: On most vehicles this wire can be connected directly to the factory alarm system wire which is usually located in the driver's side panel.

18. White/Black Wire - NEW 2 / VATS - Control Harness

The WHITE/BLACK wire which is optional is a 400 mA transistor ground output that activates the late-model (1982 to the present) vehicles with the "run" one key positions. This wire is a momentary transistor output (400 mA) that can be more or less than not included. It can be used to power that ring ignition wire of the ignition key necessary for vehicles such as Lincoln Continental, Town Car, and Grand Marquis.

19. Red/White Wire - Remote Input - Control Harness

The RED/WHITE wire which is optional can be used to bypass the AutoCommand™ to alert from a source other than Delphi-tech's remote panic transmitter. Giving this wire a negative pulse will activate the AutoCommand™ to start. Giving it another negative - Are will cause it to stop.

REQUIRED FINAL STEPS

You must have reviewed to all negative wires and completed installation steps 2 to proceed however.

20. Trying the Unit Out

WARNING: Be prepared to apply the brakes during this testing. Close the hood fully easily the emergency wires and place the vehicle in Park. Turn the ON/OFF switch on the rear ERL unit to the ON position.

A. Close all the wiring a checkout and is correct put the car in park, then press the button on the transmitter.

B. The car should start and continue to run for ten minutes. Please make sure that the engine shuts down in the car is taken out of park. The hood is opened, the brake is pressed or the transmitter button is pushed again.

21. The Antenna

Shelter the coax antenna around under the dash and up the inside of the right or left windshield post and over the top of the windshield. Use the 2 antenna retainer clips to mount the last clear eight inches behind the rear view mirror and tape inches below the metal of the car. Clean the windshield with the alcohol pad provided for maximum adhesion. Use the 2 double stick foam tape pieces to mount the antenna clips. The bottle exposed the clear tube section of the antenna is the better the range performance. Now plug the end of the antenna into the Auto Command™ module in many vehicles you can get better range performance by mounting the antenna vertically hanging downward from the car at the rear of the vehicle.

Note: The wiring section of the Installation is now complete. Be sure to take all unused wires so as to prevent short circuits and insert the module securely under the dash. When tying up and mounting the wire in a small way making sure to leave enough room for the air bags.

22. Trouble Shooting with the Self Diagnostics

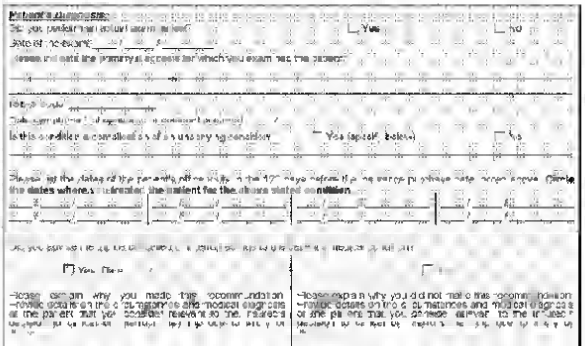

The AutoCommand™ contains built in diagnostic routine that will indicate why the unit turned off the car the last time that the unit was used. To activate the diagnostic mode, simply turn the On/ Off control switch to the "Off" position. In a few seconds, the red LED on the module will flash 1 to 8 times to indicate the problem. See the chart below for an explanation of the flashes:

1 flash	10/15 minute - time out
2 flashes	Brake or Hood - activated
3 flashes	No Tach or Sensed
4 flashes	Incorrect voltage - already input from the transmitter
5 flashes	Transmission - was shifted into gear
6 flashes	Low battery voltage - may have missing an ignition wire which powers up the transmitter
7 flashes	Hot Start
8 flashes	Over current - One of the transistor outputs is drawing too much current. Remove wire to see is wiring where necessary
10 flashes	The Control Switch was turned off

23. Setting Program Options

The Auto Command™ unit has 8 special options and features. You will not need to use these special options in most situations. The factory pre-programmed settings will work. You may change the ON/OFF control switch to the "Off" position to program any features. To change when you turn the car, refer to the options will flash the new times. During the diagnostic code described in Section 22. Wait a few seconds for the flash before programming your new Options.

Information collected may also be provided to other agencies and to Congress upon request. This information becomes a part of the permanent employment record of participants in training programs, and should be included in the Governmentwide electronic system (the Enterprise Human Resource Integration system (EHRI) and is subject to all of the published routine uses of that system of records

Effects and Nondisclosure – Providing the personal information requested is voluntary; however, failure to provide this information may result in ineligibility for participation in training programs or errors in the processing of training you have applied for or completed the absolute error in the index of refraction for our setup is 0.1. This is not so accurate, but is quite sufficient for our purposes, which is to see that having an index of refraction larger than one is equivalent to having a slower speed of light and to obtain the approximate value of the index. Since the light is attenuated by the refractive material, it is more difficult to pick up the signal, but students can do so with a little effort. This part of the experiment is easier to perform without a mirror.

Let us comment on the safety aspects regarding the laser beam. The average power of the laser light is 30 μW. The measured pulse width is 2.3 ns. This is an upper bound since the high frequency measurement can be limited by the performance of the oscilloscope itself. While it is ill advised to observe the laser light with safety glasses, the laser beam does not seem to necessitate any safety precautions at this time[11]. The laser circuit (Fig. 2) is designed containing a feedback circuit to keep the average light output constant. The average output was chosen to satisfy the following two competing conditions. From safety considerations we would like the output to be small. However we also would like the beam to be strong enough and visible so that the experiments can be performed with ease. Our choice seems to satisfy both these conditions, as explained above. The pulse modulation frequency was chosen to obtain the desired light output.

III. DISCUSSION

We have explained concretely how to realize a small tabletop experiment to measure the speed of light to a few percent level. The error can be easily brought down to a percent level if we allow ourselves to use a path length of few meters instead of one as was done above. To achieve such accuracy, the quality of the signal and the detection was crucial as I the required electronics has been explicitly described above. We have adopted this experiment including the index of refraction measurement in our classes and roughly 600 of steam engraving in a unassisted sound sciences (mostly freshmen) at Keio University have performed it. The experiments have been conducted essentially with no problems and the results are satisfactory. The experiment is done in groups of one or two students each in a three hour session. This includes the time for explanation by the lecturer and the time to write a short report on the experiment. The concept of the experiment is easily grasped by non science/engineering majors. In other more the experimental output tends to lead to a good understanding of the finiteness of speed of light, which is otherwise not easy to experience directly. Most students achieve the kind of experimental accuracy as described. Also using refractive material the students can really see and understand that the refractive material slows the light down. For most non-science/engineering students it is the first (and maybe the last) time for them to handle an oscilloscope and thus technical aspect is probably the most difficult part of the experiment. Most students seem to understand and enjoy the visualization of the signal provided by the oscilloscope. Other than some instructions on the usage of the oscilloscope the experiment can be performed independently by students in most cases.

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord; so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

FAX
you!

At CPAC this week Stephen Bannon, the Chief Advisor to Trump's closest staffer behind the Twittering infant that sits in the Oval Office, provided a little glimpse of the future he has planned for all of us.

In the clearest explanation for why nearly all of Trump's cabinet picks are known mostly for despising and attacking the very Federal agencies they've been designated to lead, Bannon explained-- in very clear language-- that they weren't appointed to lead these agencies, but to destroy them.

Atop Trump's agenda, Bannon said, was the "deconstruction of the administrative state"-- meaning a system of laws, regulations and trade pacts that the president and his advisers believe stymie economic growth and infringe upon one's sovereignty.

"If you look at these Cabinet nominees, they were selected for a reason, and that is deconstruction," Bannon said. He posited that Trump's announcement withdrawing from the Trans-Pacific Partnership was "one of the most pivotal moments in modern American history."

The crippling or wholesale elimination of Federal agencies that ensure we receive such things as clean air, clean water, fair labor laws, fair housing standards, non-discriminatory loans, financial protections, food and drug safety, national education standards and the like, has been a goal of far-right billionaires for decades. Their rationale propagated by corporate and industry-funded think tanks such as the Heritage Foundation, has always been that the existence of these "unelected" agencies represents a mortal threat to American "sovereignty and self-government." This is exactly the line Bannon was peddling at CPAC today. It is delusional, right-wing garbage.

The reality is that these institutions of the Executive Branch—the Department of Labor, the Department of Health and Human Services, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Department of Education, for example-- exist to serve the interests of all five American people, performing the painstaking and complex task of regulating the very things that make all Americans lives worth living. They perform this function because history has clearly shown that neither the Congress nor the states are remotely up to the task of doing it. They have neither the time, the expertise, the manpower or the ability to handle such mammoth responsibilities in a country of 330 million people.

For example, these are the Department of Labor's core functions.

The purpose of the Department of Labor is to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners, job seekers, and retirees of the United States; improve work ing conditions; advance opportunities for profitable employment; and assure work-related benefits and rights. In carrying out this mission, the Department of Labor administers and enforces more than 180 federal laws and thousands of federal regulations. These mandates and the regulations that implement them cover many workplace activities for about 10 million employers and 125 million workers.

When EPA responds to a massive toxic waste spill as a Deepwater Horizon explosion, or simply tells a coal company that it can't pollute the surrounding air and water with its shenanigans, it is taking on a task on behalf of all Americans, not just the locals who happen to be affected. When the Department of Health and Human Services administers a nationwide program of medical care for the elderly, it is responding to the needs of all Americans not just the well-off.

The nature of "federal" agencies is just that - to ensure a uniformity throughout the country so that (in theory at least) no single state or locality is treated with preference over others. The hundreds of thousands of people who work for these agencies are there because of their expertise and their dedication. They are not politicians. They are not "elected." But they do work for all of us.

Bannon knows that there is no coalition solution for these Federal agencies. When Bannon talks about dismantling the "Administrative state," what he's really talking about is allowing corporations and industry the absolute right to do whatever they want, wherever and wherever they want, regardless of its harmful impact on American citizens. Deconstruction," in the pie-in-the-sky fevered dreams of the Heritage Foundation, means exactly what it sounds like: the report linked above illustrates in explicit detail how Agency regulation or protection of the public may occur without Congressional approval in the current composition of the Republican dominated Congress, this amounts to complete corporate predator and the absolute elimination of any ability as citizens to halt corporate malfeasance. In essence, being a sovereign, by a Congress corrupted through and through with corporate influence, represents, enforced slavery, aided and abetted

Bannon is a fanatic, a clear and present danger. The American people have voted on a liberal Democratic ideal. Unfortunately his fanaticism poured into the ear of someone as ill-informed and vicious as Donald Trump brings us closer to the wholesale destruction of this country than any political

Thanks you for c[illegible] landscaping in your new divisional headq[illegible] We appreciate [illegible] for the concept phase as agreed on 1

Since your available area is somewhat limited we suggest a modular layout This concept emphasizes space conservation and yet still provides for a modern pleasing atmosphere

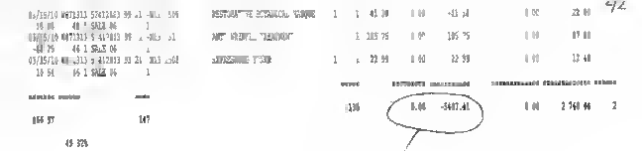

Enclosed are two floor plans The first one will allow you to keep your present furniture The second was designed with the intention that our new space-saving modules be used Notice that the latter will provide for more spacious accommodations and or room for additional personnel Also included are the specification sheets on these products

After you have had a chance to study our ideas, I would like to set up a meeting during October to discuss any further refinements I will have my secretary make the arrangements Please call me in the interim if you have any questions

INSTALLATION

UNPACKING CHECKLIST

After unpacking your fax, make sure you have all the items shown below. If any are missing, look at your dealer.

Precautions before setting up

- The printing unit in the fax power box a small amount of ozone during operation. The amount is not large enough to be harmful—however, the fax should only be installed in a well-ventilated room.
- The fax must be installed on a level surface.
- Keep it at least away from air conditioners, heaters, direct sunlight and dust.
- If your area experiences a high incidence of lightning or power surges, we recommend that you install surge protectors for the power and telephone lines. Surge protectors can be purchased at most telephone specialty stores.
- If the fax is moved from a cold to a warm place, it is possible that condensation may form inside the scanning glass, preventing proper scanning of documents for transmission. To remove the condensation, turn on the power and wait approximately two hours before using the fax.

almost and voice with Miss Bingley, declined being introduced to any other lady and spent the rest of the evening in walking about the room, speaking occasionally to one of his own party. His character was decided. He was the proudest, most disagreeable man in the world, and every body hoped that he would never come there again. Amongst the most violent against him was Mrs. Bennet, whose dislike of his general behaviour was sharpened into particular resentment, by his having slighted one of her daughters.

Elizabeth Bennet had been obliged, by the scarcity of gentlemen, to sit down for two dances, and during part of that time, Mr. Darcy had been standing near enough for her to overhear a conversation between him and Mr. Bingley, who came from the dance for a few minutes, to press his friend to join it.

"Come, Darcy," said he, "I must have you dance. I hate to see you standing about by yourself in this stupid manner. You had much better dance."

"I certainly shall not. You know how I detest it, unless I am particularly acquainted with my partner. At such an assembly as this, it would be insupportable. Your sisters are engaged, and there is not another woman in the room whom it would not be a punishment to me to stand up with."

"I would not be so fastidious as you are," cried Bingley, "for a kingdom! Upon my honour, I never met with so many pleasant girls in my life as I have this evening; and there are several of them, you see, uncommonly pretty."

"You are dancing with the only handsome girl in the room," said Mr. Darcy, looking at the eldest Miss Bennet.

"Oh, she is the most beautiful creature I ever beheld! But there is one of her sisters sitting down just behind you, who is very pretty, and I dare say very agreeable. Do let me ask my partner to introduce you."

"Which do you mean?" and turning round, he looked for a moment at Elizabeth, till catching her eye, he withdrew his own, and coldly said, "She is tolerable; but not handsome 19-12 Receptacles should be placed about 6 ft. apart for easy access.

Receptacles are usually placed 12 to 18 in above the floor; however some may be more convenient if they are 36 in from the floor. For instance a 36-in high receptacle would be convenient in a dining area for hot plates and other appliances used at table level. Higher receptacles should be planned for easy access to appliances, such as a refrigerator and clothes washer.

Signal and Communication Systems

Advances in technology are making signal and communication systems affordable to homeowners. These systems "sense" visitors, allow persons to communicate within the home, and permit the monitoring of the many systems in the dwelling and on the property.

A popular signal and communication system is the doorbell, which can sound like a simple buzzer to sophisticated chimes. Doorbells, buzzers, chimes, and similar signal systems may incorporate different tones for different entrances to the home.

An audio or visual system consists of a master station, 10-35 and numerous intercom stations located throughout the house and at entrances. Some larger systems include a radio and tape recorder.

Security systems are equipped with detection devices and alarms to alert the resident of fires and unwanted intruders. Detection devices include heat sensors, which can be set for normal temperatures in the sleeping area, living area, and service area, and higher temperatures for the attic and furnace room. The security system also includes intrusion detectors that signal when an intruder has entered the property or home. Security systems may be equipped with an automatic telephone dialing machine that repeats a taped emergency message to local authorities. Cables may be installed during construction or remodeling of the home to provide for these systems as well as a television antenna cable, satellite dish, or telephone.

Home Automation

Home automation is a reality today. Consider the following scenario which uses currently available smart products. Before returning from vacation, you call your home and "tell" it to warm up or cool down. The heating or cooling equipment is activated by a central controller and the inside temperature is comfortable when you arrive. Before going to bed you use your phone to say "good night." This one command activates the nighttime settings for the home temperature and lighting, arms the security system, and checks the home's electronic locks.

The bedtime command also signals the system to turn off the outside lighting at dawn, engage the daytime temperature setting, wake you at 7 a.m. with your favorite radio station, and turn

EGFR Mutation Analysis by PCR

Indication of Use: This EGFR mutation analysis real-time PCR assay is used for detection of somatic mutations in the EGFR gene in formalin-fixed, paraffin-embedded (FFPE) tissues of patients with non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC). Detection of EGFR mutations may be used to identify patients who may benefit from treatment with certain EGFR tyrosine kinase inhibitors. Information regarding the clinical significance of EGFR mutations and the use of EGFR tyrosine kinase inhibitors in the treatment of patients with NSCLC is limited. Negative test results should not be used as the sole basis for treatment decisions. Additional molecular, histological, radiological, or clinical methods should be used to confirm a diagnosis of NSCLC and/or a treatment decision.

Methodology: This study utilized DNA extracted from [illegible] FFPE tissue. Real-time PCR was performed using [illegible] primers and probes designed to detect somatic mutations in the EGFR gene. Results are reported as "Detected" or "Not Detected" for each of the targeted mutations listed in the table below. The percentage of tumor cells in the tissue sample is also reported.

Results: "Detected" results indicate that one or more of the mutations listed in the table below were identified in the tissue sample. "Not Detected" results indicate the absence of an EGFR mutation or a mutation below the detection limit of the assay.

Limitations: [illegible] All mutations should be confirmed by another validated method. Mutations not detected by this assay may be present at frequencies below the detection limit of the assay. Mutations not identified may be present in other genes or other regions of the EGFR gene not analyzed by this assay. Mutations in genes downstream of EGFR, such as KRAS, may also result in resistance to EGFR tyrosine kinase inhibitors. Mutations in KRAS are associated with resistance to EGFR tyrosine kinase inhibitors and a poorer prognosis. KRAS mutations are associated with increased resistance to EGFR signaling downstream of EGFR. Mutations are associated with increased resistance to TKIs by mechanisms other than T790M mutations. ALK rearrangements are associated with resistance to EGFR TKIs.

5. Cook the sauce: Pour the pan juices into a medium saucepan and bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Cook until reduced by about one-third, 3 to 4 minutes. Is the Holy Spirit a Person?

Section one

A Historical Perspective

Part a – How it need to be

As far as most Seventh-day Adventists are concerned the question "Is the Holy Spirit a person" may at first seem very easy to answer- particularly as Ellen White had said that He is a person but as will be seen in this study there is more to this seemingly simple enquiry than initially meets the eye. In other words, this is a question that is not so easily answered as it first may appear.

In their very early years it was not generally taught within Seventh-day Adventism that the Holy Spirit is a person. Even when God revealed through Ellen White that He is a person (this was around the end of the 19th century/beginning of the 20th century) they still did not regard Him as someone with individuality like God and Christ. In section two of this study we shall see why they reasoned this way. This is where we shall be taking a look of what the Scriptures reveal concerning the Holy Spirit.

It was only after Ellen White had died (1915) that the idea developed amongst Seventh-day Adventists that the Holy Spirit is an individual person like God and Christ but it took decades after her death for this belief to become normative. This new view eventually led to the development and acceptance of a certain rendering of the trinity doctrine which for the very first time in 1980 was officially voted into the fundamental beliefs of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. This was accomplished at the General Conference Session held at Dallas, Texas.

This latter belief although not exactly the same as orthodoxy does have enough of the basics to term it a trinity doctrine.

In summary it can be said that throughout the 71 years of Ellen White's ministry (1844-1915) also for the decades immediately following her death this trinity teaching was not a belief that was held by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The reason for this was twofold:

Firstly the Holy Spirit was not regarded as an individual like God and Christ whilst assembly the trinity concept itself cannot be found in the Scriptures. The latter is why the trinity doctrine must always remain an assumed doctrine.

It must also be said that during the changeover of beliefs concerning the Holy Spirit, Seventh-day Adventists changed their beliefs concerning Christ. That is because after Ellen White's death some of our leaders began to say that what was taught whilst she was alive is error. Again this 'new view' eventually caught on but like the new view of the Holy Spirit, it did take decades to do so.

The nature of the Holy Spirit a mystery

In 1903 the chief physician of Seventh-day Adventism namely John Harvey Kellogg published a book called 'The Living Temple'. Whilst it is not the purpose of this study to go into all the details here, suffice to say it was considered to be heretical in other words it was not in keeping with that which was believed and taught by Seventh-day Adventists. This book was not published by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Kellogg had it published privately.

Cavities

What are Cavities?

- There are different kinds of bacteria in the mouth, good and bad. Plaque, made of bad bacteria, is a colorless, sticky film. Whenever we eat or drink anything that contains sugar or starches the bacteria turn them into an acid. Examples of sugary or starchy foods/drinks include candy, bread paste, milk, soda, fruit juice, and sports drinks.

- Throughout the day our teeth are always working tirelessly to fight against plaque and acids.

So How Do Cavities Form?

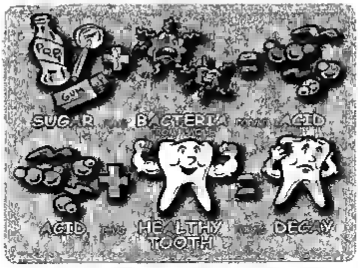

- When teeth are constantly exposed to acid attacks they begin to lose the minerals necessary to keep them healthy. After a while, the teeth begin to show white spots on them called demineralization.

- When constant acid exposure reaches the inner part of the tooth, the tooth has become decayed (cavity).

- If decay is not taken care of right away and makes its way into the nerve of the tooth, a root canal or a tooth extraction will need to be done.

What Can I do to Prevent Cavities?

- Brush 2 times a day with fluoride tooth paste and floss 1 time a day
- Visit your dentist every 6 months.
- Receive professional fluoride treatments.
- Do not frequently drink sports drinks or soda pop.
- Use adult supervision while brushing for children to the age of 8.

Fax something interesting toll free to 1 888 877 1655 or 1 503 200 1300

To the right are pages that folks have faxed us recently. Click any thumbnail to see the large version and rate it for interestingness.

You can fax something interesting to 1-888 877 1655 (your boss will never notice, maybe) or 1 503 200 1300 (long distance to Portland, Oregon) and it should appear here within a couple of minutes. (It's a toll free number if you're in the USA.) Keep it clean & legal.

Fax single page documents w/ no cover sheet. If you fax multi-page, only the first page will appear here. We try to snip off the top few pixels of the page where your company name and fax number should appear, but make no promises that this will actually work.

☆☆☆☆☆ 10 Reviews

Prep Time: 20 mins Total Time: 1 hr 20 mins Serves: 10-14, Yield: 4.0 quarts

Ingredients

2 lbs Italian sausage, casings removed (mild or hot)
1 small onions, chopped (optional)
3 -4 garlic cloves, minced
1 (28 ounce) cans diced tomatoes
2 (6 ounce) cans tomato paste
2 (15 ounce) cans tomato sauce
2 cups water (for a long period of simmering for flavors to meld. If you don't want to simmer it as long, add less.)
3 teaspoons basil
2 teaspoons dried parsley flakes
1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4-1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes
1/4 teaspoon fresh coarse ground black pepper
1/4 cup red wine (a good Cabernet!)
1 lb thin spaghetti
parmesan cheese

Directions

1. In large, heavy stockpot, brown Italian sausage, breaking up as you stir.
2. Add onions and continue to cook, stirring occasionally until onions are softened.
3. Add garlic, tomatoes, tomato paste, tomato sauce and water.
4. Add basil, parsley, brown sugar, salt, crushed red pepper, and black pepper.
5. Stir well and barely bring to a boil.
6. Stir in red wine.
7. Simmer on low, stirring frequently for at least an hour. A longer simmer makes for a better sauce, just be careful not to let it burn!
8. Cook spaghetti according to package directions.
9. Spoon sauce over cooked spaghetti noodles and sprinkle with parmesan cheese.

سری دوم تمرین‌های طراحی الگوریتم‌ها

۱. فرض کنید یک درخت دودویی کامل با ارتفاع h و $n=2h$ گره برگ داریم. هر گره درخت نیز دارای یک مقدار می باشد. تعریف می‌کنیم:

- اگر گره x گره برگ باشد، $A(x)$ برابر است با مجموعه شامل x و تمام اجداد x تا ریشه درخت (تا ریشه درخت)
- اگر x و y دو گره برگ مجزا باشند، $A(x,y)$ برابر است با اجتماع $A(x)$ و $A(y)$ یعنی $A(x,y) = A(x) \cup A(y)$ و $F(x,y)$ را حاصل جمع عناصر $A(x,y)$ تعریف می‌کنیم

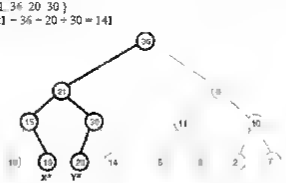

الف) الگوریتمی ارائه کنید (با استفاده از بسته کد یا توصیف فارسی) که برای یک درخت دودویی کامل، دو گره برگ x^,y^ را پیدا کند، طوریکه مقدار $F(x^, y^)$ ماکزیمم گردد و سپس مقدار $F(x^, y^)$ را بعنوان خروجی بازگرداند.

ب) مرتبه زمانی الگوریتم ارائه شده را تعیین کنید.

توجه: الگوریتم ارائه شده باید مبتنی بر روش تقسیم و حل باشد.

مثال برای درخت زیر گره های X^* و Y^* مشخص شده‌اند و خروجی الگوریتم برابر ۱۴۱ است. زیرا

$A(x^*) = \{ 19, 15, 21, 36 \}$
$A(y^*) = \{ 20, 30, 21, 36 \}$
$A(x^, y^) = \{ 19, 15, 21, 36, 20, 30 \}$
$F(x^, y^) = 19 + 15 + 21 - 36 - 20 + 30 = 141$

۲. (تحلیل الگوریتم مرتب‌سازی ادغامی) الگوریتمی بنویسید که برای مرتب کردن یک آرایه n عنصری، ابتدا آن را به ۲ قسمت با طول $n/3$ عنصر تقسیم کرده، سپس هر قسمت را به همین روش مرتب کرده و سپس ۲ نیمه مرتب شده را با هم ادغام کند. با تحلیل پیچیدگی زمانی الگوریتم، مرتبه زمانی آن را مشخص کنید.

TEST DESCRIPTION

Detects PD-L1 Expression by Immunohistochemistry (IHC)

TEST RESULT

PD-L1 Score	Result
TPS	Positive

COMMENT

Based on formalin-fixed paraffin-embedded tumor tissue specimen, the PD-L1 (SP142) Assay, Ventana Medical Systems, Inc. is an FDA approved companion diagnostic assay for selection of patients for treatment with anti-PD-L1 antibody therapy. Positive PD-L1 staining is defined as ≥ 5% tumor cells (TC) and/or tumor infiltrating immune cells (IC) expressing PD-L1 as detected by the VENTANA PD-L1 (SP142) Assay. Negative PD-L1 staining is defined as < 5% tumor cells (TC) and/or tumor infiltrating immune cells (IC) expressing PD-L1 as detected by the VENTANA PD-L1 (SP142) Assay.

SOURCE

Formalin-fixed paraffin-embedded tissue.

CLINICAL INFORMATION

PD-L1 is a cell surface protein that binds to PD-1 and B7.1 receptors on activated T cells, B cells, and other immune cells. PD-L1 binding to PD-1 and B7.1 receptors on T cells results in inhibition of T cell activation and cytokine release. PD-L1 is also expressed on many human cancers and is thought to play a role in tumor immune evasion. Therapeutic antibodies that block the PD-L1 interaction with PD-1 and B7.1 receptors have been developed to restore T cell activity against tumors.

Solid Tumors

PD-L1 [illegible] cell-type restricted immunohistochemistry [illegible] tumors and normal tissues and [illegible] tumor microenvironment.

Non Small Cell Lung Cancer (NSCLC):

Strong expression of PD-L1 in NSCLC tumor cells and/or tumor infiltrating immune cells is a prognostic factor associated with poor survival. Expression of PD-L1 in NSCLC is among the PD-(L)1 axis drivers that have shown promise of anti-tumor activity. The [illegible] and [illegible] PD-L1 expression [illegible] in clinical oncology trials in NSCLC.

Melanoma

PD-L1 [illegible] expression is associated with poor survival in melanoma patients. Early trials targeting the PD-1 axis with monoclonal antibodies in melanoma have shown durable, objective responses and [illegible] PD-1 axis inhibitors in melanoma is under clinical investigation.

your airline miles account listed under Assets. Place a check mark in the second box under the column heading "Don't Include in Totals." Click Close.

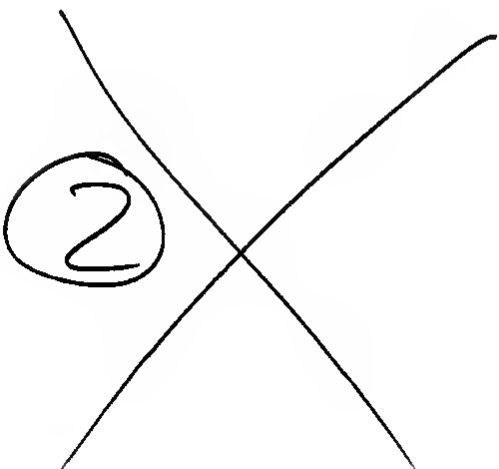

Repeat Steps 3 and 4 for any additional points or miles programs you'd like to add. That's it! You're done. The only feature missing the ability to configure accounts to have zero decimal places, as airlines rarely credit an account a portion of a mile or point. Regardless, you can configure reports within Quicken to track your miles. There's no way to use Direct Connect, Web Connect, or Automatic Web Update to synchronize your airline account with your provider, so all updates must be done manually.

Got any more Quicken tips? Leave them here or just say hi. Anyone who comments here will be entered to win a free copy of Quicken Basic 2007. Now you can use the free software to track rewards miles as well as your bank accounts and house values.

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-805-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy -- it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring -- hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

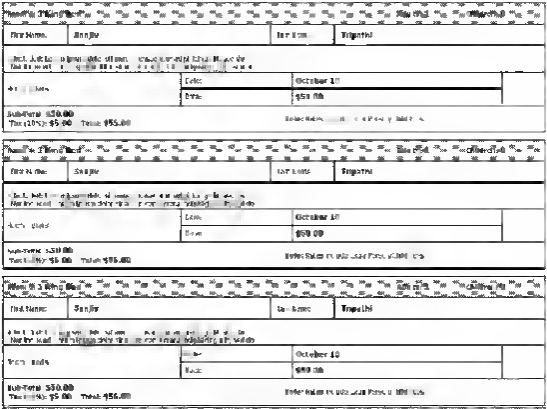

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-677-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Yes — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere within the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Think about the strangeness of today's situation. Thirty, forty years ago, we were still debating about what the future will be: communist, fascist, capitalist, whatever. Today, nobody even debates these issues. We all silently accept global capitalism is here to stay. On the other hand, we are obsessed with cosmic catastrophes: the whole life on earth disintegrating, because of some virus, because of an asteroid hitting the earth, and so on. So the paradox is, that it's much easier to imagine the end of all life on earth than a much more modest radical change in capitalism.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fax web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Patented Software

Alert Logic Threat Manager and Log Manager utilize a combination of a patented grid-based technology and cutting edge 7-factor threat scoring modeling to accurately identify and prioritize threats in your environment.

Integrated Managed Services

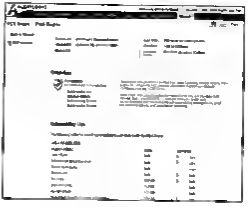

Alert Logic's products include integrated managed services, such as ActiveWatch and LogReview, administered by our Security Operations Center (SOC). The SOC is staffed by highly skilled security professionals with GIAC (Global Information Assurance Certification) from the SANS Institute, who, through the ActiveWatch and LogReview services, provide 24x7 monitoring and incident response and daily log review at a fraction of the cost of employing these skills in-house.

Complete Threat Visibility

Alert Logic uniquely sits at the nexus of threat, vulnerability and log data within your network and across our global sensor footprint of over 1,000 customers and hosting service providers. This gives us unparalleled visibility to identify and prioritize security incidents based on a complete picture and is not matched by off-the-shelf software.

Powered by the Cloud

Alert Logic makes the difficulty out of obtaining, achieving and affording security and compliance solutions by offering Threat Manager and Log Manager in a service-based delivery model. This cloud-based model means you don't have to buy, implement or maintain the expensive and complicated hardware and software usually associated with intrusion detection, vulnerability assessment and log management.

Threat Manager contains over 45 dashboards and 100 reports to help you manage compliance.

Description

The fax server (hylafax) allow to set up a central point through which all either Linux or Windows clients in the same Intranet can send and receive fax as well as view ing their current send/receive status.

Most of the files for fax service are located under the directory `/var/spool/fax`, including service configuration files device configuration files faxes that are to be sent and that have been received log files and the FIFO queue for the fax device The file and directory permissions in this area are set purposefully so don't try to close them off for privacy's sake – especially the FIFO file and the outgoing directory which has the sticky bit set

You can add any number of fax modems using the `faxaddmodem` command as long as your system is configured with the appropriate number of serial ports

The HylaFAX servers will re read a modem config file (if needed) before each send and on any reset This means you only need to explicitly restart a server if you change it before doing a receive You can also avoid restart ing it if you use `cu` or `tip` to talk to the modem since this will cause the server to wakeup and then reset itself when you exit from `cu` or `tip`

TIFF/Class F is the format in which HylaFAX stores received fax imag e files There is documentation on the `faxrcvd` script invoked by the fax server for each received facsimile To print each received fax just modify this script according to your local needs For example you might use fax2ps (in the HylaFAX distribution) piped to ghostscript with the LaserJet driver

/var/local bin/fax2ps $ 1 gs q dNOSAFER sDEVICE=ljet4 dNOPAUSE sOutputF a f

Another useful program to use when printing TIFF images is the tiff2ps program that is included in the TIFF software distribution.

Ports Used 4558(new) 4557(old) Both are used

If you are using the `/dev/modem` as device for the modem for the configuration then

Make sure the symbolic link `/dev/modem` points to the right serial port
(eg `/dev modem > /dev/ttyS0`)

Make sure that the produced modem configuration file (see below) will have the name `/var /spool fax et /config modem`

Epson WorkForce WF-3540 All-in-One Printer

Selected FAQ

Q: I want to enlarge an image that I'm scanning with Epson Scan. How do I obtain the best quality?

A: You should make your image when you're scanning instead of enlarging it later in an image-editing program. You can do this using the Target Size setting in Home or Professional Mode.

If you are going to scan your image to a particular size, such as 4 x 6 inches, you should select the Target Size setting after previewing a bit before adjusting your scan area (indicated by the marquee). This sets the scan area to the correct proportions so your image will not be cropped unexpectedly.

Note: If you plan to enlarge your image later in an image-editing program, you need to increase the Resolution setting to retain a high image quality after enlargement. Increase the resolution by the same amount you will increase the image size. For example, if the resolution is 300 dpi (dots per inch) but you will increase the image size by 200% in an image-editing program, change the Resolution setting in Epson Scan.

Dear David,

On behalf of the Boulder City Hospital Board of Trustees and Foundation Board, thank you for supporting our Eighth Annual Heart of the Community Gala, honoring Teresa & Michael Giroux. Also honored was Dr. Daniel Rollins, an emergency room doctor who was presented with the second annual "Dr. Michael Rovitch Award" as the Medical Professional of the Year Award.

Since 1954, Boulder City Hospital has provided top quality personalized health care to residents of Boulder City, Henderson, Las Vegas as well as countless Southern Nevada visitors. Your generous contributions this evening enabled us to move forward in our mission to provide "Quality Care Close to Home." Each year our services lines improve to meet the needs of our communities. This year Outpatient Surgical Services – providing same day surgery and other convenient out-patient services including injectables or IV medication administration, antibiotic infusions and IV port flushes --came online.

We invite you to visit the hospital and see first-hand how your support benefits your community hospital. Don't hesitate to contact the Foundation office if you

Other congestion-related considerations depend on the specific application for which the V.21 bit events are being used.

3.5. V.8 Events

V.8 [9] is an older general negotiation and control protocol, supporting startup for the following terminals: H.324 [20] multimedia, V.18 [31] text, T.101 [32] videotex, T.30 [8] send or receive fax, and a long list of V-series modems including V.34 [28], V.90 [29], V.91 [30], and V.42 [31]. In contrast to V.8 bis [33], in V.8 only the calling terminal can determine the operating mode.

V.8 does not use the same terminology as V.8 bis. Rather, it defines four signals that consist of bits transferred by V.21 [12] at 300 bits/s: the call indicator signal (CI), the call menu signal (CM), the CM terminator (CJ), and the joint menu signal (JM). In addition, it uses tones defined in V.25 [3] and T.30 [8] (described below), and one tone (ANSam) defined in V.8 itself. The calling terminal event using the V.21 low channel is the answering terminal uses the high channel.

The basic protocol sequence is subject to a number of variations to accommodate different terminal types. A pure V.8 sequence is as follows:

1. After an initial period of silence, the calling terminal transmits the V.8 CI signal. It repeats CI at least three times, continuing with occasional pauses until it detects ANSam tone. The CI indicates whether the calling terminal wishes to function as G.324, V.18, T.30 send, T.30 receive, or a V series modem.

2. The answering terminal transmits ANSam after detecting CI. ANSam will disable any G.164 [6] tone suppressors on the circuit after 400 ms and any G.165 [7] tone cancellers after one second of ANSam playout.

3. On detecting ANSam, the calling terminal pauses at least half a second, then begins transmitting CM to indicate detailed capabilities within the chosen mode.

4. After detecting at least two identical sequences of CM, the answering terminal begins to transmit JM, indicating its own capabilities (or offering an alternative terminal type if it cannot support the one requested).

SECTION 2 INDEMNIFICATION, HOLD HARMLESS AND DEFEND

I promise to INDEMNIFY, HOLD HARMLESS AND DEFEND the Released Parties (defined in Section 1) against any and all claims to which Section 1 of this agreement applies, including claims for their own negligence. I also promise to INDEMNIFY, HOLD HARMLESS AND DEFEND the Released Parties against any and all claims of my own negligence, and any other claim arising from my use of the bike. In accordance with these promises, I will reimburse the Released Parties for any damages, reasonable settlements and defense costs, including attorney's fees, they incur because of any such claims made against them. iOS 10 Update Guide

Updated October 24th, 2016

2. How to Update

To update: open Settings and click on General. From there, select Software Update. Sometimes you'll see a prompt to update, which you gives you the update overnight. Leave your iPad plugged in and it will be updated when you go to use it tomorrow. It can take from 20-60 minutes so plan accordingly. The update requires 2.0 GB of free space and that the battery is 50% or higher or plugged in.

3. Important Info Regarding the Update

- To unlock your iPad screen, you press the home or power button, then the home button again. While in the lock screen, swipe from left to right to see notifications and swipe right to left to open the camera.
- Mail threads are organized differently in iOS 10. You may want to read below about the Mail changes if you notice mail threads are hard to navigate.
- Some apps may lose their data when you update, such as Book Creator and Explain Everything. Make sure to export those projects into Google Drive for safe keeping!

4. Exciting New Features

- Changes to Mail app: one click to see unread messages - link
- Swift Playgrounds (learn to code iPad apps) - link
- Delete Apple Apps such as Stocks, Compass, etc. - link
- Annotate PDF files directly in the Canvas App - link
- Sort, Search, and Share Memories (auto-generated videos) from the Photos App - link
- News app has been updated with lots of great sources - link

If the claim is eligible for benefits, we will pay the benefit after we receive your written notice, unless we notify you in writing within 15 business days after we receive your proof of loss that we are disputing the claim or that we need more information to determine whether the claim is payable.

Except as otherwise provided, if a policy pays for a loss by monthly benefits, such payments will be made as soon as proof of loss is received. Subsequent payments will be made every month during the continuance of the period we are liable. Any payment of a lump sum benefit will be made as soon as proof of loss is received.

FAX TEST

DATE: _____ USER: _____

www.FreeFaxCoverSheets.net

This is a test of the Emergency GFI Fax System. The faxers of your office in voluntary cooperation with the federal, state and local authorities have developed this system to keep you informed in the event of an actual fax emergency. If this had been an actual fax emergency, you would have been instructed to use one of the fax machines in your area. This concludes this test of the Emergency GFI Fax System.

Aint no mountain high enough

If you need me, call me No matter where you are
No matter how far Just call my name
Ill be there in a hurry
You dont have to worry

cause baby,
There aint no mountain high enough
Aint no valley low enough
Aint no river wide enough
To keep me from getting to you

Remember the day I set you free
I told you
You could always count on me
From that day on I made a vow
Ill be there when you want me
Some way,some how

(Chorus)
No wind, no rain

My love is alive Way down in my heart
Although we are miles apart
If you ever need a helping hand
Ill be there on the double
As fast as I can
(chorus)

The lithium-ion backup battery generally provides 6 to 10 years of service life. The back up battery can safely be stored within the following temperature range: -4 to 140 °F (-20 to 60 °C). However it is important to note that storage of back up batteries above 77°F (25°C) will significantly reduce life of the battery and is not recommended.

Caller ID Spoofing & Vishing

If You purchase the Caller ID calling feature with Your Charter Phone service, You have the ability to receive and accept calling party identification information. However dishonest callers or "scammers" may try to falsify incoming caller identification information to disguise their identity and transmit deceptive information. This practice is called Caller ID "Spoofing." Scammers use new telephone technology to manipulate incoming caller ID information to make customers believe that the call originated from another party. Charter, like all telephone providers, cannot validate or authenticate the calling party originating name and number.

Therefore, do not assume the Caller ID name and number displayed on your Caller ID device is always accurate. Consumers are currently not required by new laws to take corrective action against scammers. You should also be aware of a related criminal practice called "Vishing." Vishing involves scammers asking customers to call a number left by a voice recording, after the call is answered by a person or by an answering machine, for the purpose of gaining personal information - like credit card information. Always be extra cautious when giving out personal information over the telephone. For additional information please refer to the following website (http://www.fcc.gov/cgb/consumerfacts/callerid.html).
